

JOHN T. BOIFEUILLET QUILTS RACE FOR SENATE LEAVING FOUR CANDIDATES IN PRIMARY TUESDAY

New Attractions Will Make Bow at Fair Today

GREAT INTEREST MANIFESTED HERE IN RUNNING RACES

Hippodrome Program Also Will Be Offered for First Time This Afternoon at Lakewood.

MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS BETTER THAN BEFORE

Tuesday Has Been Designated as "Children's Day and School Day." Reduced Prices Charged.

TREAT FOR CHILDREN. Tomorrow has been designated by the fair management as "Children's day and school day." All students from public or private schools, grammar school, high school or college, will be admitted for the reduced admission of 15 cents, provided the student brings a certificate from the teacher who will be furnished the certificates upon application to the fair management. Tickets for the box seats in the grandstand are on sale downtown at the following places: Munn Drug company, Wise Drug company, Jacobs (all three stores), Franklin & Cox, Marshall & Reynolds.

The greatest exposition in the history of the Southeastern fair association today swings into its big week going stronger than ever. With all indications forecasting a record-breaking week in every department and offering the most representative display of exhibits in each division combined with the most attractive entertainment program ever seen in the south the exposition launches Monday morning into its second week, which bids fair to break all previous records established in the past seven years of the exhibition.

In spite of the inclement weather which prevailed over Sunday, officials are optimistic concerning the coming week, and if the weather man gives a square deal they predict the most successful run in the history of the fair.

More Exhibits Here. Exhibits which were already crowding the mails to capacity were augmented Sunday by several carloads which were shown at other fairs last week so that when the buildings open for this week the visitors will view the greatest array of agricultural products and industrial features that has ever been presented by the Southeastern fair.

In Spring of 1914 Entente Prepared For War, Says Kaiser

Former Emperor Gives Lengthy Reasons for Asserting That Russia, France, Belgium and England Were Ready for Attack While Germany Was in Ignorance of Impending Conflict.

BY WILHELM HOHENZOLLERN (Former Kaiser of Germany)

XXIII. Innumerable are the pieces of evidence that as early as the spring and summer of 1914, when nobody in Germany believed as yet in the entente's attack, war had been prepared in Russia, France, Belgium and England.

I included the most important proofs of this, in so far as they are known to me, in the "Comparative Historical Tables" compiled by me. On account of their great number, I shall cite only a few here. In so doing I do not mention all names, this is done for reasons easily understood. Let me remark furthermore that this whole mass of material became known to me only little by little, partly during the war, mostly after the war.

Gold Reserves Are Accumulated.

(1) As far back as April, 1914, the accumulation of gold reserves in the English banks began. On the other hand, Germany, as late as July, was still exporting gold and grain to the entente countries, among others.

(2) In April, 1914, the German naval attaché in Tokyo, Captain von Knorr, reported that he was greatly struck by the certainty with which every one there foresaw a war of the triple alliance against Germany in the near future. . . . that there was a something in the air as if, so to speak, people were expressing their condolences over a death sentence not yet pronounced.

(3) At the end of March, 1914, General Sherbatshoff, director of the St. Petersburg War academy, made an address to his officers, wherein, among other things, he said: That war with the powers forming the triple alliance had become inevitable on account of Austria's anti-Russian Balkan policy; that there existed the strongest sort of probability that it would break out as early as that same summer; that, for Russia, it was a point of honor to assume the offensive immediately.

(4) In the report of the Belgian ambassador at Berlin regarding a Japanese military mission which had arrived from St. Petersburg in April, 1914, it was stated, among other things: At the regimental messes the Japanese officers had heard quite open talk of an imminent war against Austria-Hungary and Germany; it was stated, however, that the army was ready to take the field, and that the moment was as auspicious for the Russians as for their allies, the French.

(5) According to the memoirs of the then French ambassador at St. Petersburg, M. Paleologue, published in 1921, in the Revue des Deux Mondes, the Grand Duchesse Anastasia and Miltra told him on July 22, 1914, at Tsarskoe Selo, that their father, the king of Montenegro, had informed them in a cipher telegram, that "we shall have war before the end of the month (that is, before the 13th of August, Russian style); . . . nothing will be left of Austria. . . . You will take back Alsace-Lorraine. . . . Off armies will . . .

LEGION TO OPEN CONVENTION TODAY IN NEW ORLEANS

Gathering of Ex-Service Men Ready for Five Days of Important Business.

NATIONAL PROBLEMS UP FOR DISCUSSION

As Rank and File Arrive on Scene, Scarcity of Old Uniforms Is Remarkable.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. New Orleans, October 15.—Soldiers, sailors and marines of four years ago, members of the American Legion, were gathered here tonight for their fourth annual national convention, which begins tomorrow and continues for five days.

It is a convention which is scheduled to accomplish much business and shape policies for the future course of the legion.

Last year's American Legion convention in Kansas City, with Marshal Foch, Admiral Earl Beatty, of England; General Diaz, of Italy, and General Jacques, of Belgium, as distinguished guests, was a combination of pageant and reunion on a gigantic scale.

Problems Ahead.

What the legion's future policy will be on adjusted compensation; what, if any, criticism will be leveled at the administration in Washington because of the defeat of the compensation measure during the last session of congress when President Harding's veto was sustained, were of course outstanding questions. But they were by no means the only questions of importance to be brought before the legion convention.

Discussion of the progress made in caring for the disabled, the work of the United States veterans' bureau, the part played by Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer, the president's personal physician, in connection with hospitalization, were also scheduled for sharp discussion. Colonel C. R. Forbes, head of the veterans' bureau, is here, and his presence has already brought the charge from William F. Deegan, head of the New York convention delegation and a candidate for national commander to succeed Hanford MacNider, that Forbes was here to influence the convention at the instance of the republican administration in Washington, a charge sharply denied by Forbes, who said he was here with a staff of specialists to co-operate with the legion on problems having to do with disabled men.

Committee meetings went forward today, with completion of the reports of commissions by the legion to deal with Americanization, rehabilitation, hospitalization, legislation and . . .

U. S. BOND OFFER OVERSUBSCRIBED BY $1,050,000,000

Secretary Mellon Announces Details of Rush to Buy 4-1-2 Per Cent Government Bonds.

DELIVERIES TO BEGIN TODAY, HE STATES

Will Be Made Through Federal Reserve Banks Upon Allotment and Payment.

Washington, October 15.—Detailed reports of the oversubscribed $500,000,000 4-1-2 per cent government bond issue, as submitted by the federal reserve banks, show that the total subscriptions received to date aggregate over $1,550,000,000.

Of this amount, Secretary Mellon announced late Sunday, about $1,400,000,000 represent cash subscriptions and over $150,000,000 represent subscriptions for which either 3-4 per cent victory notes or December 15 treasury certificates were tendered in payment.

Subscription books for the cash offering closed Saturday, but the exchange offering remains open until Saturday, October 21.

Allotments Made.

"The $150,000,000 or thereabouts of exchange subscriptions have already been allotted in full," Mellon said. "Of the cash subscriptions over $325,000,000 represent subscriptions in amounts not exceeding $10,000 for any one subscriber, which have been allotted in full. The balance of the primary allotments, amounting to only $175,000,000, or thereabouts, is distributed among the other five classes of subscriptions. Final figures as to subscriptions and allotments within the several classes, and as between the several federal reserve districts, will be announced later upon receipt of final reports from the federal reserve banks.

"Deliveries of the new bonds will . . .

POSTAL OFFICIALS TO CONVENE HERE

Paul Henderson, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, Will Reach Atlanta Wednesday.

Paul Henderson, of Washington, D. C., second assistant postmaster general, accompanied by John H. Edwards, solicitor for the postoffice department; W. E. Triem, superintendent of the railway adjustment division, and Walter H. Riddle, general superintendent of the railway mail service, will arrive in Atlanta Wednesday to attend a conference of the fourth division, railway mail association.

Mr. Henderson and the other officials from Washington are scheduled to arrive in Atlanta at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning on the Birmingham special, remaining in the city until Thursday afternoon, when they will leave for New Orleans where they will pay an official visit to twelfth street police station to clear the street of the threatening, hooting throng that packed it solidly from 8th avenue to 9th avenue and at times seemed to be on the point of bursting into the police station from a desk lieutenant was striving vainly to hear Captain Crawford's replies to his questions.

GEORGE WILL WIN IN FIRST PRIMARY, DECLARES DYKES

Dooly County Representative Predicts That He Will Receive Tremendous Popular Vote.

ALL SOUTH GEORGIA CLAIMED FOR GEORGE

Withdrawal of Col. John T. Boifeuille From Race Will Help His Candidacy, Says Dykes.

Expressing confidence that Judge Walter F. George, candidate for the unexpired term in the United States senate of the late Senator Thomas E. Watson, will lead the field by one of the largest popular votes ever accorded a candidate in the state and predicting his election on the first ballot, Representative E. B. Dykes, of Dooly county, Sunday issued a statement in which he declared that George will unquestionably carry every county south of Macon, as well as a decided majority of the counties in other sections of the state.

The withdrawal from the race of John T. Boifeuille, one of the first candidates to announce for the office, will materially strengthen the candidacy of Judge George, it was asserted by Mr. Dykes, who described the retirement of Mr. Boifeuille as a "brave and courteous action which has lessened the possibility of any county in south Georgia going to a candidate by minority vote."

Dykes' Statement.

Mr. Dykes' statement follows: "The eve of the primary finds the George forces all over the state enthusiastic, optimistic and militant. "So many things have happened in the past three days in the interest of Judge George's candidacy that it seems now his nomination in the first primary is assured beyond a reasonable doubt. Everywhere in the state his friends are predicting that . . .

"Reports reaching this office within the past twenty-four hours from practically every county south of Macon assure that great section of Georgia for George almost to a county. "The strong and forceful statement of Senator William J. Harris declaring that he has hoped a south Georgian man would be sent to the senate has been met by an echo from every section of that great territory that the time is now, and that Judge . . .

SENATE PRIMARY PLANS COMPLETED

Democratic Executive Committee Announces Same Polling Places Used in Governor's Race.

All precinct managers and clerks to handle the primary in Atlanta for United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator Watson have been appointed and details for conducting the election in the city and county completed, it was announced Sunday by C. C. Mason, chairman of the county democratic executive committee.

The same polling places as were used in the gubernatorial primary September 13 and the identical hours from 7 in the morning to 7 in the evening will be in effect, Mr. Mason asserted.

Following are the polling places in the eleven wards in the city of Atlanta. The twelfth ward is in DeKalb county.

First Ward—109 South Forsyth. Second—33 South Pryor. Third—A—Fraser and Hunter. Third—B—Boulevard and Fair. Fourth—A—655 North Boulevard. Fourth—B—294 North Boulevard. Fifth—A—9 Ponders avenue. Fifth—B—249 Kennedy street. Sixth—A—103 North Pryor. Sixth—B—Marietta and Walton. Seventh—A—Gordon and Lee streets. Seventh—B—648 Gordon street. Eighth—A—328 Peachtree. Eighth—B—Hempill avenue and Tenth street. Ninth—A—728 Edgewood avenue. Ninth—B—874 Highland avenue. Tenth—A—323 Lee street. Tenth—B—222 Stewart avenue. Eleventh Ward—98 Flatbush ave.

ASSERTS ENEMIES SPREAD REPORTS HE IS CATHOLIC

Answers Charge by Stating There Is No More Zealous Believer in Protestant Principles.

VOLUNTEER MANAGERS WANTED BY VEREEN

Railroad Labor Men Make Reply to Valentino. Hardwick Answers Statement Made by Harris.

Retirement of Judge John T. Boifeuille, member of the state public service commission, was the feature development of the political situation Sunday. Colonel Boifeuille withdrew declaring that "sundry persons have sought to array religious prejudice against him by circulating the report that he is a Catholic."

These reports he denounces, adding that "there is no more zealous believer than I in the principles of the Protestant religion."

Without throwing his support to any of the four candidates remaining in the field, Colonel Boifeuille declares that "the senatorial race has developed into an acrimonious partisan contest." "There are two great political factions arrayed in bitter hostility to each other," he adds, "while a third candidate is waving the white banner of prohibition."

Development of Day.

Other developments of the day were as follows: Governor Thomas W. Hardwick issued a heated statement scoring Senator W. J. Harris for the latter's opposition to him and replying to Senator Harris' card published Sunday.

Headquarters for Judge Walter F. George declared that from reports received from all parts of the state the candidate will secure a clear majority over the combined opposition in the first primary.

W. J. Vereen, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, issued Sunday night from his home in Moultrie a final appeal for citizens all over the state to volunteer to serve as poll managers in order that a full and complete vote may be recorded Tuesday.

A number of railroad labor leaders of Atlanta issued a reply to John G. Valentino, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, who Sunday declared that organized labor forces of Georgia will support Judge George, and affirming that labor in Fulton county will vote for Senborn Wright and adding their belief that Mr. Wright is stronger than Judge George in this and Richmond counties.

Valentino's Statement.

President Valentino issued a second card Sunday night reiterating his belief that the race has settled down to a contest between Judge George and Governor Hardwick and asserting that he at no time assumed a dictatorial role. "I do not instruct labor forces how to vote," he said, because the workers of Georgia know how to vote. I am in touch with the situation however; I know that Judge George is the only man who can defeat Hardwick, and I would hold myself remiss in duty if I did not pass along this information for what it is worth to organized labor."

Major Charles E. McGregor, of Warrenton, candidate for pension commissioner, issued a statement explaining the attitude of The Sentinel, personal organ of the late Senator Watson on the present senatorial race.

Preparations were being made by all candidates to spend Monday in a final whirlwind drive to secure votes before the polls open Tuesday morning to decide the senatorial and pension commissioner contests. In Fulton county voters will also elect a successor to the late Judge John T. Pendleton, with three contestants in the race.

COL. BOIFEUILLET GIVES REASONS FOR LEAVING RACE

Colonel Boifeuille's formal statement of withdrawal follows:

"To the White Voters of Georgia:

The Weather SHOWERS.

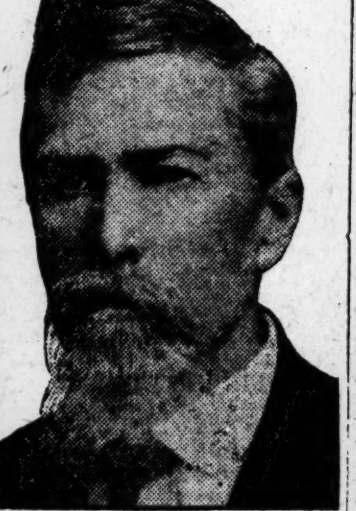

Washington, October 15. Forecast: Georgia: Showers Monday and Tuesday; little change in temperature. Virginia: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday; probably showers; cooler Tuesday afternoon in north portion. North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia: Showers Monday and Tuesday; little change in temperature. Florida: Showers Monday and Tuesday. Extreme northwest Florida: Showers Monday and probably Tuesday. Alabama, Mississippi: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday; probably showers; little change in temperature. Tennessee, Kentucky: Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday; probably showers; somewhat cooler Tuesday.

JUDGE I. A. BUSH DIES IN CAMILLA

Widely Known Citizen of South Georgia Was Prominent in Business and Political Circles.

Judge Isaac A. Bush, widely known citizen of Camilla and probably the wealthiest man in southwest Georgia, died at his home in that city Sunday morning at the age of 71. The value of his estate is estimated at more than $2,000,000, and in addition to being prominent in business, agricultural and political circles of the state, Judge Bush was a leader of the Methodist church.

He is survived by two children, Mrs. Leon Perry and Dr. Isaac A.

JUDGE I. A. BUSH

Bush, Jr., both of Camilla; his second wife, who before her marriage to Judge Bush eight years ago was the widow of the late Judge Henry Sheffield, of Colquitt; a sister, Mrs. C. M. Jones, also of Colquitt. He is also survived by nine grandchildren, two of whom are children of Mrs. Perry, four the children of Dr. Isaac Bush, Jr., and three the children of the late Robert Bush, who died in Atlanta after suffering from shell shock in the world war.

Judge Bush was a prominent lawyer and for 14 years was judge of the city court of Camilla, retiring from the law about 15 years ago to devote his time exclusively to his large business enterprises and agricultural interests. He owned about 20,000 acres of land in Mitchell and surrounding counties.

As a leader in state Methodist councils, Judge Bush was a trustee of Emory university and served as a delegate to the last decennial national conference of the church, which comprises all the bishops of the church and two lay representatives from each state.

He was for many years a member . . .

Rheba Crawford Arrested Despite Mob of Admirers

Former Atlanta Girl Creates Sensation in New York Police Station.

BY ROBERT PECK.

New York, October 15.—(Special.) Captain Rheba Crawford, of the Salvation army, a pretty young woman from Atlanta, Ga., who has been attracting audiences of 1,000 or more at their Sunday night meetings at 40th and Broadway outside the Gaiety Theater building, was arrested tonight although a mob of 4,000 fervid admirers sought to prevent it.

It took all the reserves in the West 47th street police station to clear the street of the threatening, hooting throng that packed it solidly from 8th avenue to 9th avenue and at times seemed to be on the point of bursting into the police station from a desk lieutenant was striving vainly to hear Captain Crawford's replies to his questions.

Constitution's Orchestra Will Play at Fair Today

Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution's orchestra, known to thousands of people who listen in on WGM concerts every night, will play their regular radio program in the booth at exhibit of the Carter Electric company who represent The Constitution, in the liberal arts building at the Southeastern fair, at Lakewood, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The thousands who have heard the great dance combination under the direction of B. H. Warner, will have an opportunity to see the artists in action. It is the first time the seven dance artists have ever appeared before the public in a concert of this . . .

TWO MEET DEATH IN TRAIN CRASH

Rankin, Ill., October 15.—Two persons were killed and one seriously injured when two trains of the Lake Erie and Western railroad collided head-on here this morning.

The dead are: Fred Reeves, of Tipton, Ind., fireman of one of the trains, and an unidentified transient known by the name of Brady. John Wakley, also of Tipton, Ind., was injured badly.

The trains were traveling "light," having only engines and cabooses, when an apparent misunderstanding of orders caused the westbound train to crash into an eastbound train. Neither train carried passengers.

Both locomotives were demolished, and fireman Reeves, of the eastbound train, which had the right of way, was killed instantly, and Brakenham Wakley critically hurt. The transient, who was riding on the engine of the eastbound train, was killed.

The crew of the westbound train escaped by jumping.

Harding Appeals For Public Okay On Congress Job

Washington, October 15.—President Harding has come forward with an appeal for popular approval of the work of the sixty-seventh congress.

In a letter to House Leader Mondell, made public Sunday night, Harding declared: "I doubt if any congress in our history has accomplished so impressive a volume of work, touching so wide a range of national interest. . . . Without attempting to suggest an enumeration of the accomplishments for which the country is indebted to the sixty-seventh congress, and its immediate predecessors, it is befitting to appraise the general results, which have been so helpful to American welfare that they will not fail to appeal to the approval of the American people."

The president further commended the work of congress in comparing the reconstruction period following the civil war and that following the world war with respect to the work of the respective congresses.

"So, whether the comparison is made with our own experience in after-war reconstruction a generation ago," Mr. Harding wrote, "or with the experience of other nations in the years since the world war, it is clear that we have been most fortunate. The sixty-seventh congress must be awarded recognition for splendid achievements along these lines."

Britain to Pay Interest on U. S. War Loans Today

New York, October 15.—The British government will make the first payment of interest on her American war loans to the United States government tomorrow when checks and treasury certificates totaling $50,000,000 will be paid to the federal reserve bank here for the federal account of the treasurer of the United States by J. P. Morgan & Co., acting as agents of the British government.

The British war loans of approximately four and a half billion of dollars have been for some time the center of discussion regarding the payment to this country by her war allies of war loans of more than eleven billions of dollars. A British commission with power to negotiate terms for the payment of the British loans is expected to arrive here soon to discuss the situation with Washington officials. According to unofficial advice from London, Great Britain has promised full payment.

Previous payments to the United States by the British government have been for the account of purchases of silver, amounting to several hundred millions of dollars, made during the war.

For several months the British government has been sending gold to this country and also buying dollar exchange in anticipation of the first interest payment on the war loans. J. P. Morgan & Co. estimated the gold shipments at between twenty-five and thirty millions of dollars.

Stabbed in Neck During Desperate Knife Battle

Stabbed in the neck, his jugular vein severed, Ambrose Crane, aged 20, 541 Moreland avenue, was taken to Grady hospital Sunday night, following a spectacular knife fight, witnessed by several hundred people on Mitchell street, at midnight Sunday.

C. D. Coggins, aged 14, 68 Nelson street, who is alleged to be Crane's assailant, is being held at police headquarters, after wounds of a minor nature received in the fight were dressed by surgeons at the hospital.

Coggins told the police that Crane, with another man, attacked him first between Forsyth street and Madison avenue on Mitchell street. He said they were armed with a gun and a knife. He claimed that when he saw their weapons he drew his knife and slashed at Crane, but was knocked down by the companion, who made his escape. He said he got up and chased Crane, who had retreated a few yards. The fight continued, and in self-defense he struck at Crane, the knife severing the jugular vein, he asserted.

When Crane fell Ralph Pope, a bystander, who lives at 98 Richardson street, rushed in and prevented a further assault the police say. Call Officers G. E. Williams and W. F. Bullard were sent to the scene, and calling the ambulance had the two sent to the hospital.

Crane was not expected to live through the night. He was conscious when he was brought to the hospital, and made a statement to the effect that he was assaulted by Coggins and another man, and was obliged to fight in self defense. His mother, at his bedside, said that the trouble started over her son's wife.

Coggins refused to say what the trouble started over, and is being held without bond on an assault charge pending the probable death of Crane.

His skull fractured when hit by auto.

B. H. Dunn, of Hapeville, night watchman at the Fourth National bank building, was struck by an automobile at Five Points Sunday night at 10 o'clock.

He was taken to Grady hospital where, surgeons say, his skull is fractured. The driver of the car did not stop. No witnesses to the accident could be found.

SIX PRISONERS
SAW TO FREEDOM
IN ST. LOUIS JAIL

St. Louis, October 15.—Six prisoners, all described by the police as desperate criminals, saved their way to freedom from the county jail this afternoon when the men beat the jailer, William Grupp, into insensibility and fled in the jailer's automobile.

A searching party was organized at once for the escaped men, who are: George Y. Parr, charged with sentence for killing two police officers; Owen Dale, charged with shooting a policeman; Robert Kleson, charged with having shot a deputy constable; Laurence Osterman, charged with first degree robbery; Eugene Fazeek, charged with murder; and Claire Rush, facing charges of burglary.

Jailer Grupp was walking through the prison when Parr and Kleson, who had saved their way out of their cells, felled him with a piece of iron bar. Grupp was bound and gagged and his keys seized.

Meanwhile the other four men made their way out of their cells by sawing the bars and joining the comrades, who opened all of the cells on the second floor and invited 23 other prisoners to flee, but they refused.

The men unlocked the gates leading from the prison, jumped into the jailer's automobile and drove off.

Professors' Wives
Forced to Exist
On Poverty Row

Berkeley, Cal., October 15.—Professors' wives at the University of California are having one to live. A cushioned seat in a class room is an admission card to the poverty row, according to an article in the October Chronicle, a quarterly campus publication of the institution. It is signed by faculty wives.

It is simply a choice between a cup-and-down and a cradle, the article protests. For the wife of a learned doctor, living on a learned doctor's pay, can't afford babies.

"One couple with a baby, cooks, cats and sleeps in the same room," the article says.

"Some families have used substitutes for butter for years, others have no eggs for months at a time."

"Amusement? It's months since some of us have been to a theater, or even to a movie."

"One woman with a child of 12 is still wearing her trousseau. Her wedding dress is serving as lace curtains for the parlor."

"Wives of professors are doing their own, their husbands' and their children's washings and without washing machines."

12:30-1 P. M.—Noon-day talk to business men of Palmer building, under auspices of Billy Sunday club.

7:30 P. M.—Sermon and evangelistic appeal. Excellent music at all services.

The remarkable revival now in progress at Wesley Memorial Methodist church, under the leadership of Dr. Charles L. Goodell, of New York city, enters today upon its second week.

Services will be held daily, except Saturday, as follows: 11 a. m., sermon at Wesley Memorial church; 12:30-1 p. m., noon-day talks to business men, under auspices of Billy Sunday club, at Palmer building on Marietta street; and 7:30 p. m., sermon at Wesley Memorial church. At all services there will be special music. The revival will close Sunday evening, October 22.

Before a congregation which packed the main floor and the first gallery of Wesley Memorial's spacious auditorium, Dr. Goodell on Sunday morning delivered a most interesting message. He selected the Old Testament character of Enoch as "walked with God," as his scripture basis. "Success in life is due to walking with God," said the pastor-evangelist in his fervent message. "Nor did Enoch find his way free of obstacles," he continued, and then he pressed upon his hearers that "they, too, despite similar obstacles to a walk with God, could and ought to make choice, as did Enoch, to live such a life as he did."

Apples in the Canal.

(From The Panama Canal Record.) The Seattle Chamber of Commerce announces that approximately 1,000,000 boxes of Washington apples and close to 300,000 additional boxes from Oregon will be handled at the refrigerating terminals at Seattle during the coming season as compared with 250,000 boxes last year, when shipments to northern European ports and Atlantic ports of the United States via the Panama Canal were first undertaken.

During the last fiscal year, ended June 30, 1922, fresh fruit shipments from the west coast of the United States through the Panama Canal totaled 22,543 tons, of which approximately one-fourth was routed to the east coast of the United States and practically all of the remaining three-fourths to the British Isles. The heaviest shipments were in the months of January and February, which together totaled more than the combined shipments for the remaining ten months of the year.

B. M. Moss, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer of the Georgia division, who is chairman of the program committee, declared that all plans had been completed for the entertainment of the visitors during their stay in Atlanta.

"The tour of Mr. Henderson and party had been planned at an earlier date," declared Mr. Moss, "but the railroad strike necessitated cancellation of arrangements. This is the first visit of railway mail service officials since the administration of Albert Sydney Burleson and Otto Traeger. It is expected that a personal expression of policies of Mr. Henderson will be forthcoming during the conference here."

Mr. Henderson succeeded the late Mr. Shughnessy, who was killed in the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater in Washington last winter. It is probable that W. H. Byrd, of Cincinnati, district superintendent, and H. M. Robinson, of New Orleans, will be present for the conference.

At all services there will be special music. The revival will close Sunday evening, October 22.

Before a congregation which packed the main floor and the first gallery of Wesley Memorial's spacious auditorium, Dr. Goodell on Sunday morning delivered a most interesting message. He selected the Old Testament character of Enoch as "walked with God," as his scripture basis. "Success in life is due to walking with God," said the pastor-evangelist in his fervent message. "Nor did Enoch find his way free of obstacles," he continued, and then he pressed upon his hearers that "they, too, despite similar obstacles to a walk with God, could and ought to make choice, as did Enoch, to live such a life as he did."

Apples in the Canal.

(From The Panama Canal Record.) The Seattle Chamber of Commerce announces that approximately 1,000,000 boxes of Washington apples and close to 300,000 additional boxes from Oregon will be handled at the refrigerating terminals at Seattle during the coming season as compared with 250,000 boxes last year, when shipments to northern European ports and Atlantic ports of the United States via the Panama Canal were first undertaken.

During the last fiscal year, ended June 30, 1922, fresh fruit shipments from the west coast of the United States through the Panama Canal totaled 22,543 tons, of which approximately one-fourth was routed to the east coast of the United States and practically all of the remaining three-fourths to the British Isles. The heaviest shipments were in the months of January and February, which together totaled more than the combined shipments for the remaining ten months of the year.

and the Cyclorama in Grant park. At 6:30 o'clock in the evening a smoker and reception in honor of the visiting officials will be included on the program at the Hotel Ansley.

B. M. Moss, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer of the Georgia division, who is chairman of the program committee, declared that all plans had been completed for the entertainment of the visitors during their stay in Atlanta.

"The tour of Mr. Henderson and party had been planned at an earlier date," declared Mr. Moss, "but the railroad strike necessitated cancellation of arrangements. This is the first visit of railway mail service officials since the administration of Albert Sydney Burleson and Otto Traeger. It is expected that a personal expression of policies of Mr. Henderson will be forthcoming during the conference here."

Mr. Henderson succeeded the late Mr. Shughnessy, who was killed in the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater in Washington last winter. It is probable that W. H. Byrd, of Cincinnati, district superintendent, and H. M. Robinson, of New Orleans, will be present for the conference.

Fewer Uniforms.

Meanwhile the rank and file of the veterans here in the convention poured in in increasing numbers today and tonight from all parts of the country. It was noticeable that there were many less men wearing their uniforms this year than has been the case at previous conventions. Perhaps a good many of the uniforms are worn out—after all, it has been nearly four years since the fighting in the Argonne and along the Meuse. And doubtless, a good many civilian waist and collar lines are no longer adapted to the military regalia that their owners brought home from the war four years ago.

Another noticeable feature of the convention was the large number of women who came with their soldier relatives to participate in the festivities which will accompany the convention and to attend the convention of the American Legion auxiliary, the women's organization, which meets at the same time.

Summer weather greeted the convention visitors today, and under a brilliant sun, palm trees, oleanders and roses gave a tropical touch to the setting.

NEW ATTRACTIONS OFFERED AT FAIR

from the season's biggest thrillers and finest entertainers.

Mr. Mills, Gratified.

In a statement issued to The Constitution by J. Oscar Mills, president of the fair association, he expressed his gratification for the superb showing made by every department.

Mr. Mills also declared that the five stock and produce exhibits of the 1922 fair were simple proof that Georgia and the south could be prosperous without a bale of cotton being raised in its borders.

The judging will commence in all of the various departments and announcement of the prize winners will be made at intervals.

Tuesday is children's day at the exposition and the kiddies will be admitted for 15 cents. All students, whether college, high school, grammar school or private school, will be admitted for the reduced admission price if the student presents a certificate from the teacher of the school which he or she attends. These certificates are furnished by the fair association and may be had by any teacher who applies for them.

The free art, fireworks and other forms of entertainment will be especially arranged for the kiddies on this day. A special program will be staged for their benefit.

To the White Voters of Fulton County

I am a candidate for Judge of the Fulton Superior Court in the primary of next Tuesday, October 17, 1922.

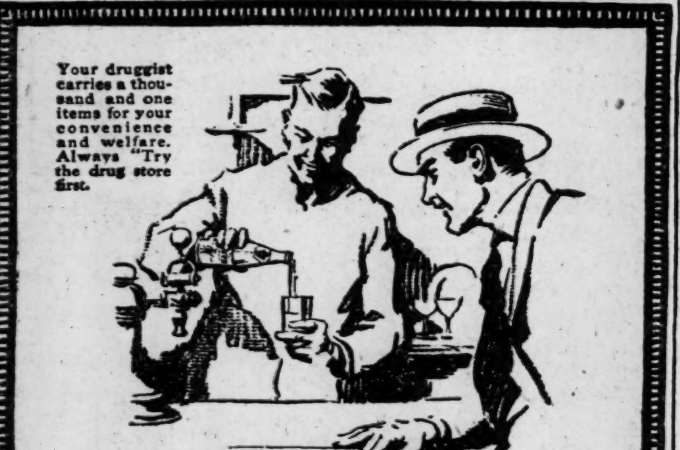

I have lived in Atlanta for the past thirty years, am 41 years of age, and have for more than twenty years been a member of the Atlanta Bar.

As to my fitness and qualification, I respectfully refer you to the voluntary indorsement of the majority of the practicing lawyers. Fully 90% of the Bar has assured me of their support.

I shall appreciate your vote and support.

Respectfully yours,
E. D. THOMAS.

PROBE OF MURDERS RESTS ON SUNDAY

New Brunswick, N. J., October 15. Local authorities engaged in the investigation of the slaying of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills were practically idle today, awaiting the order of Supreme Court Justice Parker, which will decide whether the case is to continue in their hands or to be put in charge of State's Attorney-General McCran.

If Justice Parker's order, expected tomorrow, places the investigation in the hands of the state authorities, the leads which have been uncovered by two detectives from the state constabulary, will be taken up by the state prosecutor's men. The investigation of the state troopers has been largely independent of that of the local authorities.

None of the trio of troopers was in town today, but they were said to be following clues in other cities. Their theory, in the main, is that the couple were not killed on the Somerset county farm, where the bodies were found. They also attach importance to the clue, first mentioned by County Detective Totten, that when the bodies were discovered the rector's eyes had been closed, while those of Mrs. Mills had been left open.

Local authorities, who have expressed skepticism about the statement of Mrs. Hall that she had never heard gossip regarding her husband and the choir singer, are seeking an explanation, it was said, of certain statements appearing in the letters found with the bodies. In one of these letters, believed to have been written by Mrs. Mills, the statement occurred, "Charlotte talks."

SHOULDER DISLOCATED IN FALL FROM CAR

E. E. Ferguson, 32, of 30 Delta street, had his left shoulder dislocated and possibly fractured in a fall Sunday afternoon from a freight car on the Georgia railroad near Wally street. He was rushed to the Grady hospital in the ambulance of Awtry & Lowndes.

According to information furnished here today, the hospital, Ferguson had "swung" onto a moving string of cars, his foot slipped as he was climbing the side steps, causing him to fall.

BIBLE STUDY CLASSES AT NEGRO Y. M. C. A.

"Unless men and women try to live out the teachings of the Bible in their lives there will be trouble in the world." Thus spoke Rev. R. T. Weatherly before the Bible class at the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. This was the first meeting of the series which the Bible study committee has planned. There will be two senior and three junior classes which will meet once a week. During the past week a number of positions were secured through the employment department and many applications were registered.

Denies Watson Would Approve Hardwick's Race

In a prelude to his Sunday night sermon at the Central Baptist church, Dr. Caleb A. Ridley made vigorous reply to a statement recently given out by Rev. E. J. Forrester, a Baptist minister at Sparta, who expressed his belief that if Watson could speak from the tomb he would advise his friends to vote for Hardwick for the senate.

Dr. Forrester said: "I, therefore, believe that if he could speak from the tomb, he would advise that we vote for the man best fitted to 'carry on his fight for the people and for constitutional government.' Governor Hardwick, in my judgment, is better fitted for that work than any man in public life in Georgia at the present time. I shall cast my vote for him."

Dr. Ridley's reply follows: "There appeared in an Atlanta paper Sunday an endorsement of the candidacy of Governor Hardwick for the United States senate, supposedly given out by Dr. E. J. Forrester, a Baptist minister of Sparta, Ga.

"In this black-type advertisement the reverend doctor presumes to speak the mind of the late Senator Watson and in so doing arrives at the conclusion that Watson, were he living, would favor Hardwick for the senate."

"Of all the noisances since the birth of time, none have exceeded such an end? Watson for Hardwick! But Forrester says their national policies were one and the same. Since when did Hardwick ever have a national policy? He has no state policy, no county policy, no ward policy, no sort of policy except one to run on. If he did have it would not last from one election time to another."

"Two years ago he claimed to have a policy on which he ran for governor. This year he repudiated it and ran on one diametrically opposed to the one of two years ago."

"Hardwick's national policy! Shades of hades! Tom Watson voting for Tom Hardwick to draw salary as a senator of the United States and fees to represent enemies of America as a lawyer! No greater slander could be spread over his name and no more unthinkable thing could find its way into the columns of the press. No man in his right mind, who even casually knew Tom Watson, could be made believe that he would even consent to the great state of Georgia being once more misinterpreted by Tom Hardwick."

"Brother Forrester can vote for whoever he pleases, but certain it is, he has no moral right to this slanderous end? Just how Brother Forrester or any other preacher could vote for Hardwick is more than some of us can understand! But don't rejoin, my friend, that you justify yourself in voting for Hardwick. Just exercise your right of sovereign citizenship to vote for anybody you want to. That will be conceded; but please have your sacred duty to the silent dust. When he lived he spoke for himself and now that he has gone, we have appointed no oracle."

First Rebellion In U.S. Because Of Whisky Tax

Rockwood, Tenn., October 15.—The first rebellion against the federal government was the whisky rebellion of 1791. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of Washington, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, declared today before the Holston conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"The government was in debt and in need," he said. "It decided to tax whisky and the distillers in western Pennsylvania armed themselves and attacked the government officers, customs houses, postoffices, mail carriages, and had to be put down by force of arms."

"In the one hundred and forty years since their spirit has never changed. They have rebelled against every restriction, every law, and flouted every regulation. Following passage of the prohibition amendment they started another rebellion. They started the slogan 'No beer, no work.' This fell flat. A New Jersey governor started out with the slogan 'I will make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic Ocean,' and succeeded in giving his state a law dryer than the Volstead act."

"What this country needs now is a new birth of patriotism, loyalty to the flag and obedience to the law. Then, a pride of standing by the officers of the law who have been appointed to represent us in doing the unpleasant thing of enforcing a new fundamental change in the attitude of our government toward its most destructive internal ailment; and a demand that no congressman shall ever be elected again by a patriotic people, whatever his party affiliations, if he is disloyal to the constitution of the United States."

T. U. CONVENTION COMMITTEE MEETS

Special Meeting of Atlanta
Typographical Union
Next Sunday.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the annual convention of the International Typographical union, which will be held in Atlanta next August, were begun Sunday afternoon when the first meeting of the local convention committee was held.

The meeting of the committee was held in the office of the Atlanta Typographical union, and is composed of the following members: P. L. Rikard, chairman; W. L. Grant, secretary-treasurer; W. C. Caraway, R. E. Gann, R. T. Pavlovsky, E. S. Mabry, W. H. Winn, Luther H. Still, A. S. Nance, Jerome Jones, Dan W. Green and James Ryan.

A special meeting of the local union will be held next Sunday afternoon in the Labor temple at which time the committee will present plans for the convention and receive instructions.

According to Chairman Rikard, the Atlanta printer plan to make the 1923 convention the greatest ever held by the international body. "We are starting early," he said, "in order that every detail of the work may be carried out in the true Atlanta spirit."

ISSUES ARE SCARCE IN NEW YORK CONTEST

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, October 15.—With election day less than a month away, it would appear that something is yet to be found as an issue in New York.

This situation appears unusual when the gubernatorial fight in which Governor Nathan L. Miller is running for reelection and "Al" Smith, former democratic governor, is after his old job.

This situation appears unusual when it is considered that no other election result of this year has the national and local potentialities found in the outcome of the Miller-Smith fight.

If Governor Miller is re-elected, the New York republicans believe he will be a real figure before the next republican national convention, and a strong presidential possibility.

Election of Smith would, of course, mean a tremendous turn-over from the results of 1920 when the republicans swept the state, but what might follow a Smith victory may be regarded as of more importance than that of national scope.

No Big Issue.

To date, however, the democratic preoccupation fight between the Hearst-Hylan and the Smith forces furnishes most fireworks and is an actual gubernatorial campaign. So far no outstanding issue has come to the surface.

Personalities have figured prominently. Smith has talked of his humble birth and charged that Miller is reactionary, that his early environment, training and education cause him to put property rights above personal rights.

To which Governor Miller replies that the Fulton fish market, about which Smith spent his early days, had nothing on the "Hillside farm" where the governor was born, and that he is not reactionary.

Smith has charged that Miller is a "dictator," and that the economies which he claims to have effected in the administration are largely imaginary. But Miller charges Smith with extravagance, as governor, citing the savings he has been able to make as proof of his charge.

Both "Up State."

Both Governor Miller and Smith are campaigning "up-state," delivering speeches daily.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner, is now thoroughly in the race for the senate on the ticket with Smith. There were reports that Copeland might shy from this nomination because of the "dry" plank in the democratic platform.

During the past week, however, Copeland endorsed this plank, but declared himself in favor of enforcement of the Volstead act, in as much as it was now a law. Copeland is after the seat now held by Senator Calder.

To Build Berth
For Largest Ship
In N. Y. Harbor

Washington, October 15.—The Leviathan, largest vessel afloat, is to be provided with a special berth in New York harbor, Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board, has announced.

As repair work on the former German liner is practically completed and the vessel shortly is to be recommissioned, Lasker has decided that adequate docking facilities for a boat of the Leviathan's draft should be provided immediately. To this end bids will be requested for the work.

Pier No. 5 at Hoboken, N. J., partially destroyed by fire last year, is to be removed, under Lasker's plan, and the entire area between Piers 4 and 6 is to be dredged to a sufficient depth to accommodate America's most ambitious acquisition to its merchant marine.

It is proposed to afford a berth for the Leviathan at least 42 feet in depth at low tide, the width of said berth to be approximately 500 feet. While at present it is possible to tie up the Leviathan, it is exceedingly difficult to warp her into her berth without considerable maneuvering on the part of tug boats, and in the interest of time and economy Lasker has decided that the outlay is justified.

At the same time, the board announces that the final opportunity to purchase surplus materials now held by it will be afforded at the auction sales to be held November 1, 2 and 3, Hog Island, Pa., and November 22, at Sparrows Point, Md. The property to be placed on sale includes refrigerating plants and various types of machinery and equipment.

TWO NEGRO HOUSES DAMAGED BY FLAMES

Two negro dwellings were badly damaged by flames Sunday, one being practically destroyed. Both fires were caused by defective ducts, according to records at the fire department.

French Aviators Fail to Beat U.S. Duration Flight

Le Bourget, France, October 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—The French aviators, Lieutenant Bossoutrot and M. Drouhin, who ascended in a Goliath biplane at 6:13 Saturday morning in an attempt to beat the American record, failed to equal the American record, which was 35 hours, 16 minutes and 30 seconds.

The French Aerial Federation, however, considers the mark set on official world's record, contending that the American flight was conducted under such conditions as will not be accepted by the International federation.

I have been to America and half way back again," Lieutenant Bossoutrot said as he alighted from the plane wrapped up in heavy furs. The aviators were forced to land through lack of gasoline. When informed his performance did not break MacReady's record, Bossoutrot remarked: "I don't see how he could do it with the gas he is expected to have had aboard."

The Goliath traveled 3,200 miles, according to the instruments and remained within 600 to 1,000 feet altitude for the first twelve hours. When the gasoline tank lightened it ascended to 5,000 feet and remained there Sunday. It always kept within sight of the walls of Paris and was in constant communication by wireless with Le Bourget.

At midnight, after being in the air eighteen hours Drouhin complained of cramps owing to cold coffee. Bossoutrot took command, remarking at the helm seven hours. He was almost exhausted and aroused Drouhin from the camp bed within saying: "There is plenty of gas left. Shall we land? ... I am finished."

At this time they were within sight of Le Bourget, but Drouhin revived at the thought of landing. Physical endurance proved superior to mechanical devices as the engine gave out before the crash, although Bossoutrot was a sorry looking sight, with blood shot eyes and puffed face from the extreme cold. Drouhin staggered from the fuselage, where he had been attempting to repair the left motor. This motor died about 4 o'clock, and the plane continued its flight with only the right motor 27 minutes longer.

The French Aerial federation announced that there was not the slightest doubt that the record would be ratified. The aviators complied with all the regulations of the Aero club and were in communication with Eiffel Tower every half hour. While not questioning the American record the federation considers that until further advice come from America, this flight will be regarded as a world's record.

FATHER FACES TRIAL FOR SON'S MURDER

Knoxville, Ga., October 15.—Can Meece will go on trial here this week on a charge of murder, in connection with the fatal stabbing of his son, Will Meece, 20, about three weeks ago.

The state will attempt to show, Solicitor-General Charles H. Garrett stated tonight, that Meece threatened to kill his wife and his son interposed with "You can't strike mother, or abuse her any more." It then is alleged the older Meece attempted to strike the son with a chair, but the young man wrenched the chair from his grasp, whereupon the father, it is alleged, had drawn a knife and thrust it into the body of his son.

The young man was found in the yard of the Meece home the following day, bleeding from a wound in the heart, and he died a few hours later.

Willingham Trial Delay Announced

Macon, Ga., October 15.—Calling of a special session of Houston county superior court at Perry, Ga., beginning a week from tomorrow, will automatically delay the trial of a new trial for Richard P. Willingham, it was announced tonight by Solicitor-General Charles H. Garrett.

Willingham was convicted on a charge of larceny after test in connection with the collapse of enterprises that he headed. The motion for new trial was to come up on October 27, but will not be heard until November 3.

ENTENTE PREPARED FOR WAR IN 1914

meet in Berlin. ... Germany will be annihilated."

The former Serbian charge d'affaires at Berlin, Bogishevich, tells in his book, "Causes of the War," published in 1919, of the following statement which Cambon, the then French ambassador at Berlin, made to him on the 26th or 27th of July, 1914: "If Germany wishes matters to come to a war, she will have England also against her. The English fleet will beat Hamburg. We shall thoroughly beat the Germans." Bogishevich states that this talk made him sure that the war had been decided upon at the time of the meeting of Poincaré with the Russian czar at St. Petersburg, if not sooner.

Russian Crown Council.

Another Russian of high rank, a member of the duma and a good friend of Sazonoff, told me later about the secret crown council held, with the czar presiding, in February, 1914, moreover, I obtained corroboration from other Russian sources mentioned in my "historical tables," of the following: At this crown council Sazonoff made an address wherein he urged the czar to seize Constantinople, which, since the triple alliance would not acquiesce in it, would cause a war against Germany and Austria.

He added that Italy would break away from these two, in the natural course of events; that France was to be trusted absolutely and England probably not.

The czar had agreed, it was said, and given orders to take the necessary preliminary steps. The Russian finance minister, Count Kokovtsov, wrote to the czar advising against this course—was informed of this by Count Mirbach after the peace of Brest-Litovsk—recommending a firm union with Germany, and warning war, which, he said, would be unfavorable to Russia, and lead to revolution and the fall of the dynasty. The czar did not follow this advice, but pushed on toward war.

The same gentleman told me this: Two days after the outbreak of war he had been invited by Sazonoff to breakfast. The latter came up to him, beaming with joy, and, rubbing his hands together, asked: "Come now, my dear baron, you must admit that I have chosen the moment for war excellently, haven't I?" When the baron, rather worried, asked him what stand England would take, the minister smote his pocket, and said: "I have chosen the moment for war excellently, haven't I?"

WILLINGHAM TRIAL DELAY ANNOUNCED

Macon, Ga., October 15.—Calling of a special session of Houston county superior court at Perry, Ga., beginning a week from tomorrow, will automatically delay the trial of a new trial for Richard P. Willingham, it was announced tonight by Solicitor-General Charles H. Garrett.

Willingham was convicted on a charge of larceny after test in connection with the collapse of enterprises that he headed. The motion for new trial was to come up on October 27, but will not be heard until November 3.

meet in Berlin. ... Germany will be annihilated."

The former Serbian charge d'affaires at Berlin, Bogishevich, tells in his book, "Causes of the War," published in 1919, of the following statement which Cambon, the then French ambassador at Berlin, made to him on the 26th or 27th of July, 1914: "If Germany wishes matters to come to a war, she will have England also against her. The English fleet will beat Hamburg. We shall thoroughly beat the Germans." Bogishevich states that this talk made him sure that the war had been decided upon at the time of the meeting of Poincaré with the Russian czar at St. Petersburg, if not sooner.

Russian Crown Council.

Another Russian of high rank, a member of the duma and a good friend of Sazonoff, told me later about the secret crown council held, with the czar presiding, in February, 1914, moreover, I obtained corroboration from other Russian sources mentioned in my "historical tables," of the following: At this crown council Sazonoff made an address wherein he urged the czar to seize Constantinople, which, since the triple alliance would not acquiesce in it, would cause a war against Germany and Austria.

He added that Italy would break away from these two, in the natural course of events; that France was to be trusted absolutely and England probably not.

The czar had agreed, it was said, and given orders to take the necessary preliminary steps. The Russian finance minister, Count Kokovtsov, wrote to the czar advising against this course—was informed of this by Count Mirbach after the peace of Brest-Litovsk—recommending a firm union with Germany, and warning war, which, he said, would be unfavorable to Russia, and lead to revolution and the fall of the dynasty. The czar did not follow this advice, but pushed on toward war.

The same gentleman told me this: Two days after the outbreak of war he had been invited by Sazonoff to breakfast. The latter came up to him, beaming with joy, and, rubbing his hands together, asked: "Come now, my dear baron, you must admit that I have chosen the moment for war excellently, haven't I?" When the baron, rather worried, asked him what stand England would take, the minister smote his pocket, and said: "I have chosen the moment for war excellently, haven't I?"

ALCO DEPARTMENT

FANS ARE PLEASED
BY RADIO CONCERT

An array of prominent artists, under the direction of Signor E. Volpi at the piano, were included on the Sunday evening program from WGM. Scores of messages of appreciation were received while the program was in progress. Requests for special numbers virtually poured in over the telephone, and the time limitations made it impossible for those on the program to gratify the wishes of WGM patrons.

Frank Tindall, baritone, sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes."

"By My Side" and "Dear Little Boy of Mine" were sung by Mrs. W. H. Wrigley, soprano.

The third number on the program was "A Little Love, a Little Kiss," by Mrs. Charlotte Crumley, soprano, and the fourth was a duet by Mrs. Crumley and Mrs. Nora Allen, soprano. The title of the song was "April Showers."

The fifth number on the program was sung by special request by H. C. Tibbs. The name of the piece was "Who Knows?"

The program was concluded by the feature prologue given at the Metropolitan last week by Signor Volpi's pupils, that preceded Rupert Hughes' "Remembrance." The same group of artists will take part in the prologue at the Metropolitan this week, arranged under the direction of Signor Volpi.

The ensemble that sang in the prologue number included the following: Mrs. Charlotte Crumley, soprano; Mrs. W. H. Wrigley, soprano; Cliff Durham, tenor; Mrs. Allen, soprano; Frank Tindall, baritone; Mrs. Ruby Tibbs, soprano, and Mrs. Bonnie Farrior, soprano.

IS CLEVELAND'S first base problem—a knotty one ever since the passing of George Stovall—to be solved at last?

MANY OF CLEVELAND'S dyed-in-the-wool fans believe that young Louis Guisto is set to fill the bill regularly for the next few years.

SINCE THE PASSING OF Stovall the Cleveland club has tried any number of experienced men and youngsters at the big without real satisfactory results. Harry Hohnhorst came after Stovall. Good at times he made a bid for the job but was unable. Since that time the Indians have seen these men play first base with varying success.

In 1914—Jay Kirke, Nap Lajoie and Roy Wood.

In 1915—Wood, Kirke, Jackson and Shields.

In 1916—Chic Gandil.

In 1917—Cristoforo Joe Morris. Guisto was then a kid.

In 1918—Doc Johnston, Allen Williams and Miller.

In 1919—Joe Harris and Johnston.

In 1920—Doc Johnston and Burns.

NAP LAJOIE played first for the club and he could play, but never pretended to be a regular at that post. Most of the other men played brilliantly in all departments of the game at times while covering the bag but couldn't be depended upon day after day. Joe Harris might have filled the bill for several seasons had not the war and then a disagreement over salary matters kept him out of the lineup.

GUISO MIGHT have been playing the bag the last few seasons but for his inability to take off weight back in 1917 when he was tried out by the club as a kid. He came to the southern camp hog fat.

HE WAS STILL in his teens then, however.

BACK FROM WAR service across the pond Guisto felt ready to "make a bid for the first basing job last year but found that the gassing he received in France had hurt his health and asked to play a year on the Pacific Coast. Now he appears set.

HE DOES NOT field spectacularly but he covers as much ground as any of the good first basemen in the game today. He handles himself well and he is a free and natural hitter who reminds one very much of the one and only Nap Lajoie in the career way he meets the ball. He has the even temperament and quiet personality which make for steady, consistent playing.

MAJOR LEAGUERS
DEPART FOR ORIENT

Chicago, October 15.—The major league stars who have undertaken to instruct the Nipponese in the finer points of the game, departed tonight on the first leg of their trip to Japan. The team, under the direction of Herbert Hunter and Frank P. O'Neill, will sail Thursday from Vancouver, returning in February.

The party includes Joe Bush and Whitey Hott, Kansas pitchers; Herbert Pennock, Red Sox; Emil Muesel, and possibly "Casey" Stengel, of the champion Giants; Herbert Hunter, formerly St. Louis Cardinal; Amos Strank and Bibb Falk, Chicago White Sox; Hugo Stephenson and Luke Sewell, Cleveland Indians; Bert Griffith, Brooklyn Robins; Fred Hoffman, Yankees, and John Lavan, St. Louis Cardinals.

DAUPHIN EASILY WINS
MUNICIPAL STAKES

Paris, October 15.—Dauphin, a British owned horse, today easily won the municipal council stakes at Longchamps, the feature event of the program, closing the metropolitan flag racing season for 1922, but Jockey Mearse could not make the required weight after the race and was disqualified and Prodigie declared the winner. The purse carried 225,000 francs.

The Hawaiian language was reduced to writing and the first book published in 1922.

LESSON NO. 174.

Audibility Measurements.

The limit of audibility of radio telegraphic signals is sometimes taken to be that at which the dots and dashes can just be distinguished. For the purpose of making comparisons between received signals it is necessary to make audibility measurements of the strength of the received signals. One method for making audibility measurements is by means of the shunted telephone arrangement shown diagrammatically in the figure below:

The value of "R1" is then taken from the resistance of the shunt across the telephone.

The audibility of the signals is found to be approximately proportional to the square of the high frequency current and may be expressed in current units if some form of sensitive indicating meter is inserted in the circuit. One or more readings of the meter should be taken for one or more settings of the resistance values.

The method described can only be employed when periodically interrupted signals are to be measured. Telephone measurements cannot be made of uninterrupted continuous wave currents.

The main reason for the lack of accuracy in audibility measurements made in this manner is the difficulty in establishing a standard for signals of a strength at which the dots and dashes are just distinguishable. The human ear is not so sensitive to slight changes in signal strength as to permit of greater accuracy in measurements of this nature.

It is interesting to note that about ten microamperes is the least current which can be detected by the ordinary crystal and telephone. By means of an oscillating audio used in connection with the shunted telephones it is possible to measure the strength of signals received from distant stations, tests having been successfully made on stations several thousand miles distant. In this case the least current detectable was found to be 4-1,000,000,000 of an ampere.

Montreal may be back in the big baseball show next summer, where it belongs. Frank Chance, former peerless leader of the Chicago Cubs, may return to the game as owner and leader of the Montreal team in the International League.

Chance attended the world series in New York, and during the series became interested in the proposition. He jumped to Toronto immediately after the series to consult with the leaders of the International and the interested Canadians, and if matters can be arranged the old P. L. may be back at the helm of a club to restore baseball to one of the best cities in America.

Montreal has been without big baseball since early in the war. Prior to that it suffered greatly through unpopular ownership and bad conditions, which drove the French patriots especially away from the game. Since then, until last summer, it has subsisted largely upon independent ball, city league games, etc. Meantime the city almost doubled in population. As a matter of fact, in 1921 the eight independent teams each drew more paid admissions than the International league club drew in its last year there.

During the last year a dandy little league was organized by old Joe Page, and the Montreal club drew to that it suffered greatly through unpopular ownership and bad conditions, which drove the French patriots especially away from the game. Since then, until last summer, it has subsisted largely upon independent ball, city league games, etc. Meantime the city almost doubled in population. As a matter of fact, in 1921 the eight independent teams each drew more paid admissions than the International league club drew in its last year there.

The Montreal franchise will be one of the most valuable in America within a decade, and the chances that it will be in a major league before many years are excellent.

Few persons who watched the world series were in sympathy with Miller Huggins, the crabby, silent little manager of the Yankees. Perhaps had they known what he was enduring their raucous jibes at him while his team was crumbling would not have been uttered.

Huggins should have been in a hospital a week before the series opened. His physicians ordered him to submit to an operation, telling him he was endangering his health permanently unless he did. He declared he would not until the series was over. He was in no condition even to be on his feet, yet stuck to the coaching line to the bitter end.

BITTER PILL FOR HUGGINS.

It must have been bitter for him to see his orders ridiculed and his stars giving pettish exhibitions of disgust, revealing his strategy to the opposition by their actions, but he did not kick nor criticize nor sulk.

The actions of Bush when ordered to pass Young in the final game of the series deserved a rebuke. It was excellent generalship to pass Young, who had been hitting and who was dangerous, and take a chance on long Kelly, who had not been hitting and who looked to be easy for a right-handed pitcher. Bush issued the pass in a manner to indicate that he wanted to show up his manager, and then pitched so wretchedly to Kelly that George scarcely could help hitting.

The firm stand of the owners for Huggins was something of a surprise. Colonel T. H. Huston never wanted Huggins, and for several seasons would have preferred another manager. However, in view of the actions of the rebellious players, who had been hitting and who was dangerous, and take a chance on long Kelly, who had not been hitting and who looked to be easy for a right-handed pitcher. Bush issued the pass in a manner to indicate that he wanted to show up his manager, and then pitched so wretchedly to Kelly that George scarcely could help hitting.

'MERRY WIDOW'
STARS TO SING

Talented Musical Comedy Players Will Entertain Constitution Radio Fans Tonight.

Marie Wells and James Liddy, of the "Merry Widow" company, two outstanding luminaries on the musical comedy horizon, will sing their premiere radio concert from WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The radio program will precede their first performance of a three-day engagement at the Atlanta theater beginning tonight.

Both Miss Wells and Mr. Liddy are all "keyed up," as it were, for the presentation of the program to radio listeners. Never before have their voices been broadcasted through ether, and WGM takes pleasure in presenting the two stellar lights of the speaking stage.

The songs will include some of the numbers they will sing during their three-day engagement at the Atlanta theater. The two stars play opposite Jefferson de Angelis, the nationally famous comedian who delighted WGM listeners with a monologue Sunday, October 8.

PAT MORAN has ripped apart a pennant-winning club and rebuilt the team to championship size in three years, differing from Connie Mack, who tore one apart and then tore the parts apart.

PETE DONOHUE, a new pitcher, won 13 games for the Reds and lost but nine. Johnny Couch, another recruit, won 17 and lost 9. Eppa Rixey won 24 and lost 13 and Adolfo Luque, the Cuban, was the weakest of the regular staff, winning only 11 to 22 losses. Moran needs another good pitcher, but Donohue and Couch were priceless pickups this season like Herman Pillette, of Portland, who won 19 for the Tigers.

MORAN'S INFELD material—Pinelli, Fonseca, Caveney, Daubert and Bohne—gives him a combination for the inner defense which any pitcher may trust and base runners have every right to respect. In the outfield he can use Roush, Duncan, Burns and Harper. Many a club has reached first division with an outfield plenty worse.

PINELLI AND CAENEY came from the Coast league, whence plenty of good ball players have come and whence further wonders are awaited. Pinelli and Johnson, of the Tigers, were just up from the coast this year. The Mensel boys, of New York, are alumni of the same circle. And this winter John McGraw receives Jimmy O'Connell, the billion-dollar outfielder, while Kid Gleason makes welcome Willie Kamm who costs the price of a national bank and always dines on expensive delicatessen off platinum platters.

Wrens Wins.

Wrens, Ga., October 15.—(Special.) In a well-played and exciting game of football, the Wrens High school team Friday defeated the Barlow team 21 to 7. Wrens made eight first downs and Barlow three. A stiff breeze prevented both teams from executing forward passes with much success. Wiggins Jones and Phillips did the scoring for Wrens, Wiggins making two touchdowns. Two of the local first-string backfield men were out of the lineup because of injuries. Sanderville will be at Wrens for a game next Friday.

The bullfight has been prohibited by popular vote in Chile, and cow running substituted.

Here Are the Rules

- The Familiar Quotations Pastime is open to any man, woman, boy or girl who is a resident of Georgia or adjoining states, except employees or relatives of employees of The Constitution.
- The Familiar Quotations Pastime consists of sixty pictures. A contest may submit three titles for each picture. Selection of titles will be found in the Official Familiar Quotations Pastime Catalogue. The Catalogue of Quotations may be purchased at the office of The Constitution at 40 cents per copy.
- Each person may participate only as one contestant, and only in his or her own name. Each participant may submit as many as six complete sets of title answers (one to five answers for each of the sixty pictures in each set). Each set of answers will be judged on its own merits. A duplicate list of the selections submitted should be retained by the contestant for self-checking purposes.
- Three methods may be followed in preparing answers: (1) Each picture published during the 60 days of the Pastime will be accompanied by an official Answer Form, with blank ruled lines for the inscription of one choice of title. If more than one choice is given, each must be written on a separate form. (2) Participants may submit handwritten (not traced) facsimiles of each picture and answer form on sheets of white letter paper. (3) Quotations may be submitted in the official Familiar Quotations Answer Book, sold at 80c per copy.
- Selections of quotations must not be sent to until the close of the Pastime.
- The winners of the Familiar Quotations Pastime will be selected by three judges having no connection with The Constitution. It is understood that participants entering the Familiar Quotations Pastime accept their decisions as final and conclusive.
- The fifteen awards in the Pastime will be made to the fifteen highest ranking answers on the basis of having achieved the most appropriate or "best" selections of quotations. If there is an equality between two or more answers a decision will be made by the judges between the three answers according to superiority in the following requirements: (a) The least number of incorrect selections (the titles which are not "best"). (b) The relative position of the contestant's "best" answer—whether first, second or third choice. In the event of an ultimate tie, each true contestant will receive an equal prize.
- The exactly the same form and spelling of quotations in your selection as you find listed in the Familiar Quotations Pastime Catalogue.
- Any contestant may have his friends assist him in selecting titles for the pictures. However, only one prize will be awarded to any one household; no will prizes be awarded to more than one person outside the family, who have worked together. The judges reserve the right to discard any set of quotations not conforming with the rules and whose references is obvious.

RUNNING RACES GET UNDER WAY TODAY AT LAKEWOOD

Many Surprises in Results of Saturday's Games

Showing of Vanderbilt, Auburn and Tech Jackets Exceeded Expectations

Lack of Effectiveness of Red and Black's Offense Displayed in Furman Game. Centre Given Great Scare.

BY CRADDOCK GOINS.

Georgia Tech, Auburn, Vanderbilt, Centre and the University of Georgia are the teams standing well to the front in the gridiron situation in the south at this time as the result of the week-end open process resumed Saturday.

Tech's smashing victory over the strong Alabama team, Auburn's impressive showing against the Army and Vanderbilt's great feat in holding the Michigan team to a scoreless tie were the outstanding features of the games in which southern teams figured.

Georgia's low score against Furman was added evidence that the Athens team face a great problem in the developing of an offense that will be effective against the strong teams to be encountered later in the season. The close shave that Centre had at the hands of the Virginia Polytechnic institute was not very surprising to close followers of the game who understand the football psychology that strongly favors the team battling with its back to the wall on its own field without the strain of living up to high expectations.

Dope Was Upset. However, few figured that Centre would be held to such a low score, and certainly no one expected the Colonels to trail throughout the three quarters to snatch victory in the final fleeting moments—and then come dangerously near being passed again. It was decidedly a narrow escape and afforded Centre just the kind of a fight that it needed for the serious business facing that team at Cambridge on the coming Saturday.

The fairly large score piled up by Tech over Alabama did not surprise anyone who has studied the system of gradual development being followed on Grant field this year. Tech's true strength is not shown so much by the score, however, as by the manner in which the Jackets advanced the ball on the Alabama team without opening up much of their stuff. Tech met a strong team in Alabama, and the fact that the Tuscaloosans were so well held in check is strong indication of the power of developing the resistance of Alexander's men.

Just how strong is the collective attacking power has not been clearly indicated in the games thus far, for so effective has been their defense, it has not been necessary to do much more than keep the ball in front of the line. The number of first downs made against the Jackets this year are significantly small, and two of the very few made by Alabama Saturday were not earned from scrimmage.

Taking care of the kick-off still seems to be the Jackets' weakest point. Just how to account for this is difficult to say, but it is clear that the coaches will have to give more attention to drilling in this phase of the game. Let a man once get a ball with ten men in front of him and the opposition coming down slowly, it is difficult to bring him to earth.

Auburn's defeat at the hands of Army, by a 19 to 6 score, only served to add to the good records of these men.

Dr. Phillips told the Associated Press: "I feel that being ruled out throughout the track season last spring and the football season up to now is sufficient punishment." The suspension was lifted in the following telegram sent to President Montgomery, of Centre: "Hinton (Professor Hinton, of Georgetown college, executive committee member for Kentucky and Tennessee) was correct when he declared the Centre college players ineligible. I find, however, that I have the power to give the penalty where none is provided. Upon strong representations of good records of students Gordy and Shadoan, together with circumstances of the offense stated by your faculty, Chairman Allen, Centre college, has my authority to play Gordy and Shadoan on and after October 16."

President Phillips said that he withheld announcement here in order that his telegram might reach Centre college before it was made public.

ARMY BEATS WEST ENDERS

BY M. D. GLEASON.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather yesterday a large crowd of over 2,000 people saw the football game at Fort McPherson between the Soldiers and the West End team. The game itself proved an agreeable surprise to most everybody and well repaid those who were present.

The heavy Army team wore their lighter opponents down in the last period and won the game 31 to 0. While it was apparent at the outset that the soldiers would win, yet the boys from West End gave them a hard game for three periods and furnished the spectators with many exciting thrills at their good playing.

The great playing of Montgomery Becknell, captain and fullback; Nickerson, center; Maiera and Barnes, halfbacks; D. Jones and H. Smith, ends, and Bryan, O'Quinn, Lattimer, and Waddell, in the line, was splendid, and after the game their friends warmly congratulated them for their good work. This game was of great benefit to the heavy Army team, as it brought them up against a fast bunch of young, tricky football players, who have played with many of the prep schools and colleges around Atlanta.

Beine Proves Star. The playing of Lieutenant Beine, Risika, Beaulieu, Gluck, Barnett, Hale, Hoover and Goldsmith was of the very best and showed how old experienced heads play football. Beine, who is playing quarterback, played right guard for Harvard in 1918 and was picked as one of the all-American team of that year. He is coach of the team.

The playing of the backfield of the Army was mainly responsible for the score run up, with Hoover and Goldsmith the outstanding players in the game, and Hale, taking Gluck's place, doing good work. Hoover was the most consistent ground gainer all through the game.

Goldsmith, the fullback, like his rival fullback, Becknell, is also from West End, his former home on Oak street, and he was picked as one of the all-American team of that year. He is coach of the team.

The Oglethorpe Petrels returned to the university yesterday and instead of being greatly disappointed over the outcome of the game with Sewanee, the gang seemed in high spirits and eagerly looked forward to the battle Saturday with Furman. Several of the players ventured the opinion that the Sewanee crew had "put one over on them." Such was the case, and instead of being only one there were several instances in which this happened. Sewanee being able to negotiate about eight successful forward passes, two of these going for touchdowns. Coach Herb Stein, brother of the Petrel coach, was given great credit by the members of the Oglethorpe team and several were of the opinion that the Alabama team would have its hands full when they run up against the Sewanee Tigers.

The showing the Petrels made against the Tigers was much better than against Alabama. The Petrels held the Tigers scoreless in two quarters and presented a better defense than has been exhibited since the Tech game. The backs are showing up better as the season progresses and there is no reason that the combination of Maurer, Morris, Varnedoe and Stephens should not have a great day when the Petrels meet the Purple Hurricane of Furman.

Furman's Great Team. Furman has a wonderful team this season, one that holds victories over some of the leading teams of the south. Her victory over the University of Georgia was a masterpiece.

Some Big Games for This Week-End. INTERSECTIONAL GAMES CONTINUE. Tech and Centre Invade the East. New York, October 15.—The erstwhile effete east is faced with the problem of taking its defeats by western teams straight or mixing them with a little victory now and then. Last year Harvard lost to Centre and Princeton was overwhelmed by Chicago. On Saturday, Yale took a beating from the Iowa conference eleven.

Whether these likings have become a philosophical habit with the eastern "Big Three" will be tested next Saturday when the "Praying Colonels" from Centre again meet the Grizzlies at Cambridge. The following week Princeton will seek revenge against Chicago for the 1921 trouncing.

Harvard will be running in normal midwestern form against the Rutgers team Saturday and is expected to offer no alibi in case of defeat. With three of her best men on the sidelines because of minor injuries last week, the Crimson is expected to do a disappointing job during the past week with a score of 15 to 0.

Centre, on the other hand, looks to the game with some apprehension. She will miss her famous back, "Bo" McMullin, who almost single-handed broke through the Harvard defense last year. However, Centre already has four rattling good victories to her credit this season, the last being over Virginia Polytechnic, 10 to 6, and the players are in prime condition.

Other Big Games. Other big games scheduled for Saturday are Georgia Tech vs. Navy, and Iowa vs. Illinois. The Navy, which has been losing lately, is expected to stop Bucknell, 14 to 7, Saturday, expects its first stiff opposition from the southern school. Georgia Tech was able to come fresh from a 35 to 7 triumph over Alabama, which is not to be scoffed at in any part of the country.

Iowa, "Big Ten" conference champion last year, will be forced to extend itself to beat Illinois. The game between the two midwestern universities annually takes on a grudge aspect, and this year Coach Zuppke of Illinois doubly fortified himself by acting as personal scout at the Iowa-Yale game.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE LOVELIEST MONTH.

I sing today a song of the loveliest month in all the year.

"Then, if ever, come perfect days," said a certain poet about the month of June. I wish he were still alive. I should like to invite him to debate the subject. For I think "Then if ever come perfect days" belongs, both by consideration of weather statistics and by claims of beauty, not to capricious, uncertain, often chilly and disappointing June, but to that jewel month of all the year, October.

I sing a song of October.

How they bring back childhood! Of the small bonfires—that acrid pungent, memory-awakening smell of burning leaves.

Of the stimulating crispness of October mornings.

Of warm, sleepy October noons.

Of October winds, bracing, cleansing, giving new zest for work and play.

Of sheltered places, out of the wind where one feels anew a sense of the healing power of sunshine.

Of the sense of plenty and richness that the sight of the harvested grain, the barrels of red checked apples, the piles of yellow pumpkins, the high soaring woodpeckers, the barns overflowing with hay, gives.

Of a new joy in open fires.

Of blissful long evenings around the evening lamp.

The Cities Wake Up.

Of cities, vivid and alive with their crowds of busy, zealous people.

Of shop windows filled with color and luxury, and shops and the mart of trade alive with the cheer and activity of their busiest days.

Of blue skies all day long unscarred by a single cloud.

Don't You Love To Scuff Them?

Of walks in the October woods with leaves scuffing crisply beneath your feet.

Of chestnut gathering and chestnut roasting.

Of brilliant blue water and a tender blue blouse on distant hills.

Of morrows turned bronze by the October wind.

Of woods made so breathingly lovely by the magic of October that the beauty of them is almost a pain.

I sing of October the jewel month of all the year.

"Then if ever come perfect days."

If I were invited to make the world over I should take out April and add an extra October.

I suppose there are a good many ardent champions of spring who will be glad that there is not great danger of my receiving such an invitation.

Tomorrow—Listening With Our Eyes.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Rubber Patches.

Mothers who have kiddies who use the rubber protectors might like to know that the protectors can be mended with adhesive plaster and will wear quite a time if proper care is used in putting it on.

To Stiffen Mollie.

To stiffen mulline, use a solution of gum arabic. Try one teaspoonful of powdered gum in one pint of hot water; let cool and dip mulline. Dry and if not stiff enough, dip again. Press with warm iron while damp.

Vermine.

If you are unfortunate enough to find nits or vermin in your hair, dissolve one tablet of bichloride of mercury in two quarts of tepid water and thoroughly wet the hair and scalp. It will kill every bug, will not harm the hair and leave no unpleasant odor.

More Nurses Wed Than Any Other Women Workers

Army Nursing Corps Head Says There Are Never Enough Nurses.

Washington, October 15.—More women marry in the nursing profession than in practically any other profession, according to Major Julia Stimson, head of the army nursing corps. The average loss from this cause, she says, is about 50 per cent, and there are never enough nurses.

"But many of the women work after marriage," Major Stimson told the United States. "and, of course, the beauty of it is, they always have their profession, and there is always a demand for it."

The work of the army nursing corps, as Major Stimson described it, is varied as it is valuable. "There is always nursing work to be done as long as we have armies," she explained, "for there is always a certain number of sick and injured, not necessarily wounded, among them. The average is 5 per cent."

New Service Begun.

"In the army corps we are developing work that is exactly similar to that in civil communities. We serve the wives and families of soldiers, do visiting nurse work in the homes of the troops, which are close by, and we are even instituting baby clinics. This service is really just beginning, and Camp Meade is the location of much of the experimenting."

"Of course there are nurses in Germany with the troops, and we have left on the Rhine. (Of the 21,000 army nurses, in uniform during the war, 10,000 served overseas.) And then a certain percentage of the nurses, as other officers of the army are studying in institutions of higher learning."

Major Stimson does not approve the bonus.

"I don't believe many of the nurses want it either," she said. "We have done our patriotic duty. We need no pay for it. Of course, where the nurses are disabled they are taken care of the same as the men who were hurt."

"Scarcely Worth While."

"And then the amount to the individual is so slight in comparison to the suffering from excessive taxation that the total sum would cost the country that I believe it is scarcely worth while."

"A federal bonus is a duplication in many instances, for the states have, many of them, already given them. I believe all of them will be before talk of it is over. And I know, because the records of the nurses are not in the adjutant-general's office, but right here. When a state bonus is declared our force has to make out all the cards. And when we hear of another state giving one we say, 'Oh, me, more records.'"

MRS. CHARLES NEEL DIES AT CORNELIA SUNDAY MORNING

News of the death of Mrs. Charles M. Neel Sunday morning at Cornelia, Ga., was received in telegrams to friends in Atlanta.

Mrs. Neel was the beloved wife of Professor Neel, one of Georgia's most distinguished educators, who has had an important part in the education of some of the state's foremost citizens. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. W. J. Kendrick, wife of Colonel Kendrick, stationed at Fort McPherson; Miss Nora Neel, of Cornelia; Miss Ethel Neel, of Washington, D. C., and by two sons, W. R. Neel, chief engineer of the state highway department, and Frank Neel, of Cornelia. A sister, Mrs. Lucy Pringle Goodman, of Los Angeles, Cal., also survives her.

Mrs. Neel was Miss Clifford Cooper, of Perry, Ga., before her marriage. Her father was Charles Cooper and her mother Miss Lucy Duncan. She was 74 years of age. Two years ago Professor and Mrs. Neel celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, at which time they received hundreds of tender messages of love and friendship from former pupils of Professor Neel throughout the country.

Mrs. Neel was a woman of unusual mental gifts and charming personality. She was a devout Baptist and the long years of her life were marked by many deeds of unselfishness. As the faithful helpmate of Professor Neel, she played her full part in the splendid work which he did for the boys and girls of the south. In addition to her home and church work she took an active interest in community affairs and at the time of her death was president of the Cornelia chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The body will be brought to Atlanta Monday morning on the Birmingham special. It will arrive at the Peachtree station at 11 o'clock. Funeral services will be held at Oak-land cemetery and will be conducted by Dr. Richard Orme. The pallbearers will be Judge E. C. Kotts, Robert Lee Avery, C. B. Howard, Dr. Walter Emery, C. Murphy Candler, Walter O. Foote, Palmer Johnson and John Paschall.

Oscar S. Straus was born in Rhenish Bavaria in 1850 and came to this country when four years old.

AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

I suppose that in course of today several hundreds of small businesses will have been sold to women. There are so many women who want something to do; there are widows with or without children, who have just cashed in their husband's insurance policy; or there are daughters inheriting in middle age a small portion from their father. These women have very little means; they must make of them what they can. As they cannot live on the interest if they put it into Liberty bonds, they buy a small store as a going concern.

Dangers hide in this, for a man who sells to a woman a going concern often keeps it until it is nearly gone. A woman buying a small business, if she cannot afford to employ an accountant, must investigate it herself. She should examine the takings from the cash book. And she should not be satisfied with the fact that last week the store took two hundred dollars; she wants to know whether three months before it took three hundred dollars, and the year before four hundred dollars. It is not what the store yields that matters; it is whether the store is going up or down. Also, she must examine the stock; fine boxes are sometimes empty; bags of sugar can get wet; goods may be stale or musty. Also she should examine the district; is the competition keen? Is the seller clearing out, or is he being turned out? Only by this means, by having her eyes open to everything will she avoid investing her money in a sinking ship. Keen as a hawk, suspicious as a cat must she be, for people seldom sell anything that is worth keeping.

The Constitution's Patterns

A POPULAR, COMFORTABLE DRESS STYLE FOR THE GROWING GIRL

Pattern 3753 is here attractively illustrated. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes, 12, 14 and 16 years. A 14-year size requires 2 3/4 yards of 36-inch material for the dress and 2 1/4 yards of 32-inch material for the gumpie. Figured gabardine is here combined with crepe de chine. Satin and serge, tricotette and organdy, silk and tulle may be combined for this design. Eastern mail to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A YOUTHFUL STYLE.

4079. Here is a new and very unique version of the one-piece dress. Belt portions over which the tab extends on front and back are fastened, hold the fullness gracefully at the sides. Added width is given to the skirt portion by plaits that form a panel over back and front. This is a good model for gingham, and also for the new tub silks in check and stripe patterns. Organdy or linen may be selected for trimming. The sleeve is cool and pretty in the short length, and in wrist length it is the latest style feature.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes, 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size requires 4 1/2 yards of 40-inch material. The width of the dress at the foot with plaits extended is 2 3/4 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A PRETTY FROCK FOR SLENDER FIGURES

4157. This is a good style for gabardine or French serge, with braid or embroidery for trimming. The dress is in slim style, with the closing at the shoulder seams.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes, 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size requires 4 1/2 yards of 40-inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 1/8 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

NOTED CLERGYMEN TO VISIT ATLANTA

A number of high dignitaries of the Episcopal church will visit Atlanta on the occasion of a four-day jubilee to be held on October 29, 30, 31 and November 1 at the St. Philip's Cathedral, according to announcement of the program committee, which consists of Bishop O. J. Mikell, Dean Thomas H. Topham and Dr. George H. Noble. The Right Rev. Thomas F. Gellor, president of the national council of the Episcopal church; Bishop A. W. Knight, of the diocese of New Jersey, and Bishop F. P. Reese, of the diocese of Georgia, will be present with many other officials of the church. Many receptions and social functions are being planned for their entertainment.

WOMEN PLAN POLITICAL RALLY MONDAY NIGHT

The Georgia Women's Political league will hold a political rally at their headquarters at 358 Whitehall street, Monday at 7 o'clock in the evening, according to an announcement made Saturday by Mrs. M. E. Jones, publicity director.

Mrs. Jones said that matters of utmost importance would be discussed at the session and has urged all members and supporters of the league to be present. Senatorial candidates will be discussed by several speakers.

TEMPLE SISTERHOOD PREPARES PROGRAM

A regular meeting of the Temple Sisterhood will be held Thursday, October 19, in the temple vestry at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The program will include tableaux and song numbers.

BEAUTY CHATS

NECK AND THROAT MASSAGE.

There is never any reason for a neglected or ugly neck, nor any reason why the neck should grow old. Wrinkles are bound to come on the face. The chin line is certain to lose its firmness. Sensible treatments can only minimize the effects of time, they cannot eliminate them. But the neck can be kept young as long as you have the patience to treat it.

One reason for this is that you can exercise the neck and you cannot exercise the face, you can feed the tissues of the neck with cocoa butter which the complexion could not stand. You can give the neck far more vigorous massage than the face would bear.

No matter what your trouble is, begin the treatment by scrubbing the neck with warm water, a mild soap and a moderately stiff bristled flesh brush. This opens and cleanses the pores of the skin, but, more than this, it stimulates and invigorates the muscles by bringing up to them a fresh supply of blood. The pores being opened the rest of the treatment is more effective. Cocoa butter or flesh-building cream should now be massaged in if the neck is old or wrinkled, otherwise cleansing cream is best.

The massage should be vigorous and should be done with the tips of the fingers of each hand, the motion being the rubbing of small circles on the neck, followed by an up-and-down motion over the lines in the front. If the neck is shriveled, dry or wrinkled, a thick coating of cream can be left on the surface all night if the neck is lightly bound with strips of muslin. This will allow the skin many hours to assimilate this nourishing oil. Such a treatment with cleansing or bleaching cream has been found effective in cases where the neck is sunburned or require one thorough cleansing each day. This should be done just before retiring. The skin is then ready for its early morning toning treatment with dashes of very cold water. However, if the skin is badly soiled, its pores filled with snot or other particles, additional cleansing will prevent its becoming grimed. Many busy women in the big cities visit the beauty parlors weekly to have the skin cleansed thoroughly; then keep it up themselves through nightly cleansing at night.

STATE ASSOCIATION MEETS AT WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., October 14—(Special).—One of the most important meetings scheduled in the state will be held at Tifton Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, when the Georgia association meets for a thorough reorganization. During the past two years the association has been compelled to work under very serious handicap of a lack of funds, caused by several counties not paying their membership quotas. This handicap will be removed on Wednesday. The chairman of the finance committee, P. R. Bonebrake, of Waycross, while not willing to divulge the report of the committee before Wednesday, does authorize the statement that the finances for the coming year are in bankable shape and says the association will be run on a cash basis. This means that all of the executive force of the association will be at work advertising Georgia, studying marketing conditions, investigating the best diversification of crops for the member counties, rather than employed in soliciting funds as heretofore.

Defaulting counties will be stricken from the membership list in future. Officers will be elected who are in thorough accord with the purposes of the organization and who are in position to give time to the work.

The work outlined for the coming year falls into two broad classifications: First, assistance to farmers now in Georgia; second, bringing new settlers into the member counties. The Atlanta Trust company has for some weeks been consulting with the association in the effort to effect a co-operation between the company and the association in land settlement.

HEALING METHODS WILL BE DISCUSSED

The methods used in healing by Emile Cone will be the subject of an instructive and helpful lecture to be given by Mrs. Rose M. Ashby Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the Carnegie library.

Court Injunction Says Mother Cannot Converse With Son

Defendant Named in Proceedings Is Charged With Bigamy.

By a court order signed by Judge Shepard Bryan late Saturday, Mrs. Jennie Davis Connell, alias Dorothy Rhoads, cannot converse with her 7-year-old son until October 21, when a hearing to determine the permanency of the injunction will be held.

The mother faces trial on a bigamy indictment returned several months ago. The restraining order was issued on petition of John W. Fretwell, of 285 Crumley street, foster father of the child, who alleged that Mrs. Connell intercepted the boy on his way home from school.

Mrs. Connell is said to have left the child in an Atlanta orphanage several years ago. In 1920 he was adopted by Fretwell. In August, 1921, Mrs. Connell returned to Atlanta and tried to secure custody of the boy.

Fretwell fought her efforts and complained to the authorities that the mother had remarried in North Carolina without having divorced her first husband. On that ground she was not permitted to take the child.

Four weeks ago she returned to Atlanta for her child and was arrested on a bigamy charge, later being released on bond.

A Tribute to Walter McElreath By a Life-Long Friend

It has been many years since the announcement of any man for a Fulton County judgeship has offered the voters such an opportunity to honor every angle of judicial equipment, as the candidacy of Walter McElreath for the seat so long filled with honor by Judge John T. Pendleton.

An alumnus of historic Washington and Lee University, winning his classical and legal education by his own heroic efforts, he was a classmate and close personal friend of John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain and now President of the American Bar Association.

Practicing law in Atlanta for twenty-seven years, his forceful ability and high character and professional ethics have won for him the universal confidence and admiration of every Judge and every Attorney who have come in contact with his acknowledged skill at the bar. "McElreath on the Constitution," written by him ten years ago, was recently declared by Judge Andrew J. Cobb to be "a most wonderful work"—one of the really remarkable contributions to Georgia legal literature. It is regarded as a standard classic in every law library.

To have on the bench a great legal scholar who has produced such a book would be an intellectual ornament and honor to the bench of Georgia.

Mr. McElreath served two terms in the legislature, his unusual qualities of leadership being recognized by his appointment as Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, where he did an enduring work for Atlanta and the State.

This notably able lawyer, who comes of sturdy Scotch-Irish stock, is a God-fearing man, having served as President of the Atlanta District Stewards' Association, and now Chairman of the Board of Stewards of Grace Methodist Church.

For ripeness of scholarship, vigor of intellect, rare legal attainments and an ideal judicial temperament, Walter McElreath presents to the voters of Fulton County a far more than ordinary opportunity to put an outstanding man on the Superior Court bench of Fulton County.

The foregoing was prepared by a friend of Mr. McElreath, who requested us to publish it.

Farm Products Rise Is Aid to Industry

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, October 15.—Better prices for farm products and evidences of increased industrial activity marked the past week in business and finance. A rally in grain prices came oddly enough at a time when it was clear that the crisis in the Turkish difficulty had been passed. It was attributed partly to reports of smaller crops abroad. In any event, December wheat rose about $1.00 a bushel, which is approximately 10 cents above the recent low. Domestic crop estimates made public by the department of agriculture Monday, show on the whole, very little change. Wheat is now placed at 810,000,000 bushels, or only eight million less than in the previous government estimate, while corn is expected to yield 2,853,000,000 bushels, or 21,000,000 bushels less than was forecast on September 1. In other words, abundant crops of cereals will be available.

Cotton meanwhile rallied to above 22 cents a pound, partly as a belated recognition of the bullish Southern cotton position and partly because trade buying, which was withheld pending a settlement of the Near East trouble, has now come into the market. Textile mills evidently are planning to extend their activities and are providing for their needs in the matter of staple. Existing prices are over 2 cents above the recent low and are materially less than 1 cent below the high of last year.

Volume Increases.

The week's federal reserve statements indicate both an increase in the volume of business and a movement of funds toward agricultural districts. The reserve ratio of the system is nearly 5 per cent below the peak which was reached at the close of the season of summer dullness. It is still, however, approximately 7 per cent above the corresponding figure for a year ago. Discounts, deposits and note circulation continue to grow. Meanwhile the tendency is toward slightly firmer conditions in the money market, although no sharp rise in the cost of commercial accommodation is anticipated.

Over-subscription of the treasury's new issue of 30-year 4-1/4 per cent bonds is regarded as a favorable indication as to the condition of the investment market. The new bonds which were offered to the value of $500,000,000 or thereabouts, are primarily designed to provide the funds for the redemption of the $870,000,000 in Victory notes which have been called for payment on December 18. After these notes have been paid off, the chief maturities which will have to be taken care of before next July will be $625,000,000 in war savings certificates and $1,800,000,000 in Victory notes.

Industry Encouraging.

Financial quarters believe these operations will be accepted without disturbing the money and securities markets. When these operations have been completed, the treasury will have taken care of its principal early maturities which totalled $1,500,000,000 in April, 1921, when refunding operations were started.

Industrial returns continue encouraging. The railroads have set a new high record for a year in the matter of cars of revenue freight loaded, the total for the week ended September 30, being 908,000. This exceeds not only the number loaded in the comparable week a year ago, but in 1920, when the fall traffic movement broke all records in the country's history. Nevertheless car shortages continue to represent the limiting factor in the steel industry and in a number of others. Steel output has now made good all the losses suffered on account of the strikes and bituminous coal production continues to approximate ten million tons a week. Steel prices are showing a tendency to recede, partly because recent shortages have been relieved.

BUILDING BIG TRADE

One of the best equipped typesetting and commercial printing plants of this city or section is the Southern Printing company, located at 263-295 Central avenue.

For sixteen years it operated in Atlanta as strictly railroad tariff printers, but eighteen months ago it began to operate in the field of commercial printing, and due to its excellent equipment and the service rendered, it has built up a large and constantly growing business, enjoying a patronage not alone in and around Atlanta, but securing orders from many distant states. In its tariff work, which it still continues to do, the Southern Printing company secures orders from Maine to Mexico.

For many years this company was located at the corner of the Hunter street and Central avenue. But four years ago it had built especially for its use its present commodious and well arranged building on Central avenue. The building is 55x138 feet, well lighted, and offers every advantage for the execution of good, high-class printing.

The Southern Printing company is under the general management of J. J. McCormack, one of the best-known printers in the southern states. It has been a close student of printing affairs for many years, and being himself a practical man, knows the needs of his patrons, and sees to it that patrons get what they want. The president of the company is E. T. Brown, one of Atlanta's leading and substantial citizens.

The Atlanta company maintains a New York city plant, under the management of H. B. Evans, a former Atlantan, and a graduate of the Georgia Tech. This New York plant is said to be the largest railroad tariff printing plant in that city. One of the big features with its tariff work is that new type is used on every job it turns out.

Mr. McCormack, the Atlanta manager, states that business is most satisfactory, and that prospects are exceedingly bright and good for the coming twelve months.

LONGINO BAKERY

IS BIG FAVORITE

One of the recent bakeries that has come to add to the pleasures of the housewife in Atlanta is the Longino bakery, at Ponce de Leon avenue and the Boulevard. This bakery was established only two years ago, but has built up a large and growing trade, particularly on the north side of the city, a territory that it takes particular pains to see is well cared for.

C. F. Longino, well known in business circles, is the president and manager of the Longino bakery. The slogan of the baker is "Real home-made bread and cakes—the best there is," and it lives up to its slogan, as many of the housewives of this city will testify. Its bread is just as delicious as it is possible to make while in cakes, cinnamon rolls and other edibles are especially wholesome and delightful.

Mr. Longino declares that business is particularly good just at this time, with the outlook for the future as bright as can be. But with the well-established reputation this comparatively new bakery has established, with the care it takes to give its trade the very best of bread, cakes, etc., and with the polite, courteous manner in which it renders its service, there is no reason for its manager to feel other than optimistic of the future about the Longino bakery.

ETOWAH COMPANY

PRODUCERS OF FINE GEORGIA MONUMENTS

Nowhere in the south can be found a more modernly equipped plant of the kind than that of the Etowah Monument company, manufacturers of marble and granite monuments and memorials, with office and plant at 114 Confederate avenue. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Atlanta and visitors in the city to call at any time and see for themselves the painstaking care and skill with which work of the highest grade and most particular designs is executed.

Employing from forty to seventy-five people the year around, it is a substantial institution and its work is exceptionally well prepared to take care of all orders in its line promptly and satisfactorily.

We are especially glad for the public to know that we maintain a special design department, ready to carry out individual ideas in air-brush drawings and memorials," said W. H. Allen, vice president and general manager of the company. "We are glad to submit drawings and designs without a cent's cost, and as suggested, are prepared to carry out to the minutest detail any design that may be desired. We are emphasizing the superior qualities of Georgia marble, in three standard colors, white, creole and silver gray, insulating that it is the finest monumental marble produced in the United States. Georgia Elberton blue granite is properly advertised as 'The Stone Eternal,' and is the equal of the famous light marble. In short, we have the very best monumental marble right here in Georgia, a plant unexcelled in facilities and equipment for the prompt and satisfactory execution of orders, a skillful designing department, and the advantages and saving to the people of our section in patronizing this line of home industry should be readily apparent. We are steadily expanding this business and are constantly on the look-out for any new feature that would assist us in our determination to give the people of this vicinity the very best, and only that, in monuments and memorials."

An additional guarantee of the high quality of work turned out by this establishment is the fact that U. L. Starnes, one of the best known and most capable practical marble men in the country, is with the company as superintendent.

"The Nightcap."
(At the Forsyth.)
The "Nightcap," which was originally produced by Max March at New York, is, if the comparison may be used, another "The Bat." While its theme is a serious one, revolving about a murder, it is treated in a half-silly, farcical fashion that proves gale after gale of laughter. Broadway, thrilled, chuckled, caught its breath and roared over "The Nightcap." Thousands have tried to solve the mystery before the final curtain. Thousands have seen the play, gone out and told the other fellow to be sure and see it. The Forsyth Players should make one of the greatest successes of their career with the piece.

Manicure Given to Three Elephants

Chief Elephant Trainer Captain Jack Davis of Johnny J. Jones expressed, looking at his pets yesterday, decided after a practical glance over the pachyderms of Lakewood that the elephants were two long. "Looks like it's high time we did a little manicure around here," he muttered musingly, whereupon he called his assistant, Eddie West, to him and began preparations to reduce the size of the pachyderms. "You see," he explained, "the elephants are getting too big for the circus. They're taking up too much space. We've got to make them look like gasoline, and a pot of lard oil."

The elephants, who up to this time had been engaged in swinging their trunks and to fro, took a look at the preparations and then watched Captain Davis as he approached. It was plain that the pachyderms were not enthusiastic about the toilet arrangements. "Come on, Gyp, get along Alice, mile up Sue."

Thereupon the elephants declared war. They lifted their trunks and emitted a noise that sounded like the blast of a toy trumpet. Persuasion was in vain. Even prods with the association announced today. "He was in the mood to give in to the manicuring," said Mr. Davis. "The trio indicated that they would not. 'You've made up your minds?'" The trio eventually had. "And nothing was to be done but to 'manicure' them." The three beasts indicated that the Andes mountains would get up and walk before they would. "Very well, we'll see about that," said

Mr. Davis. "Better see about that tomorrow, Captain, maybe they won't be so obstinate," suggested the assistant; but Davis had a different opinion.

He stepped into his living tent and in a few minutes reappeared with something in his hand. It was covered up but the minute the elephants caught sight of what he carried they didn't wait to sign any armistice. They romped out onto the lawn and there they laid down on their sides and made signs that all pachyderms their favorite outdoor sport was that of being manicured. "Yes, sir," explained Davis, "they let us file their toenails, massage and gasoline their feet without even so much as a flap of the ear. When they saw what I went after it just busted that nutty open wider than a kite."

"What was the matter with them?" "What was asked. He just smiled, but did not reply. Ed R. Salter, the Jones publicity man tipped off the secret—two mice in a cage.

Legion to Request $10,000,000.00 For Hospital Use
Commission for Rehabilitation Caustically Criticizes U. S. Work to Date.

New Orleans, October 15.—Request for a $10,000,000 appropriation to equip hospitals now being constructed and to build additional hospitals for neuropsychiatric patients is contained in the report of the American Legion's commission for rehabilitation, to be laid before the fourth national convention of the legion tomorrow by Colonel A. A. Sprague, head of the rehabilitation commission. The report criticizes the government achievements to date in caustic language.

The story of hospital construction by the government to date, declares the report, "judging by actual results is a tragedy for the sick, a discredit to the government, and an affront to the American Legion. There is not a redeeming feature in it; policies, promises, plans, failure to prepare anything but alibis in advance, danced around the sick, the same old errors of the past four years, and that there will be a decisive awakening of the public conscience that will right the wrongs inflicted and carry on the program and work outlined by the American Legion."

Excoriates Individuals.
The report, after commending Congress for enacting beneficent laws, excoriates individual congressmen and senators for what it terms "their endeavors to locate hospitals where they cannot be used, and to keep the patients in the hospitals where they are not needed, and to secure employment for their friends."

President Harding, the report asserts, decided after conferring with the United States veterans' bureau laws, "co-operative committees on rehabilitation" in various districts, to be made up of representative citizens and ex-service men.

"These co-operative committees," the report declares, "would have helped to make a success of the rehabilitation program. The request for approval of this resolution has been on the desk of the president since June. Up to the date of the writing of this report, no action has been taken."

Lacking When Needed.
"At the end of five years," declares the Sprague report, "the government has had spent as much in hospital construction and rentals as was originally estimated and requested in 1919. In the meantime, during the period when these beds were most badly needed, when they would have helped to pay the debt this country owed the men who had given most, they were lacking."

"What was the substitute?" "Hotels, sanitariums, nitrate plants, private homes, inadequate asylums and penitentiaries were purchased and modeled and added to public health hospitals, army cantonments and posts to constitute the present government hospital system."

New Government Bond Issue Hits Security Market

New York, October 15.—Announcement of the government's 4 1/4 per cent loan had a deterrent effect on new bond offerings last week, which totaled only $41,000,000 as compared with $70,500,000 the week before.

Attractive features of the new government offering also had a depressing effect on bond prices. Extensive selling of high-grade railroad and industrial issues, as well as the old Liberty bonds, obviously was to obtain funds to purchase the new, long-term, tax-exempt offerings. Seasonal demands for commercial credit, especially for crop-moving purposes, also induced increased liquidation of securities by large institutions.

Active resumption of foreign financing was the feature of the week's market. Foreign bonds, totaling $37,000,000 comprised the bulk of the new issues. In addition, cable dispatches announced the sale of $18,000,000 of Norwegian bonds to the National City company. These securities, which probably will be offered this week, bear 6 per cent interest and have a 30 year maturity.

Some heavy railroad and industrial financing is expected within the next few weeks. Dealers report that the shelves are full of high-grade securities. Heavy over-accumulation of the government loan is construed as an indication that there is a large amount of surplus funds available for investment in high-grade securities.

Principal offerings last week included: $10,000,000 30-year 6 per cent customs and general revenue external sinking fund gold bonds; $5,000,000 30-year 6 per cent bonds of the Republic of Haiti, offered at 96 1/2 to yield 6.25 per cent; 15-year 6 per cent first and refunding mortgage gold bonds of the Columbia, Delaware and Maryland Electric company, offered at 96 1/2 to yield 6.37 per cent.

COMMODITY PRICES REGISTER INCREASE
Although the holiday this week had a restrictive effect on activity in some lines, the rising tendency of wholesale commodity prices continued well defined, 27 advances appearing in the comprehensive list of quotations compiled by Dun's Review, against 25 declines. Last week 50 gains contrasted with 33 recessions, while in a similar comparison for the corresponding week a year ago 47 out of 75 changes were in an upward direction.

Reports of crop shortage and of a probable increase in European requirements imparted considerable strength to wheat, and the improvement in the cereal was shared to some extent by the coarse grains. Live hogs moved within a somewhat narrow range, with beef fairly steady under moderate marketings, while hogs and sheep were depressed by some increase in supplies. Provisions were dull for the greater part of the week and prices were easy. Continued scarcity imparted notable firmness to the best grades of butter and eggs, and medium average qualities were in steady demand and, in the former, very firm. Cheese was quiet and showed no particular change in price.

Some irregularity still prevailed in certain departments of the iron and steel market, with some easing in both pig iron and steel. Firm conditions continued in the miscellaneous materials, and the raw material. Recent improvement in the leather has been extended, and prospects are now regarded as favorable for a further rise in prices.

NEW DIRIGIBLE TEST SUCCESSFUL AT WRIGHT FIELD
Dayton, Ohio, October 15.—Successful test of a new dirigible balloon, designed for the purpose of replacing the captive observation balloons of the late war, was conducted at Wilbur Wright field, Saturday by Charles Brannan, test pilot of Akron, and Ensign Charles Bauch, U. S. N., it was announced here today.

Under the test, the balloon, 500 feet in air, and attached to motor truck, was pulled to various points on the field. The balloon then was cut loose from the truck and under its own power cruised about, later coming back to the truck where it was picked up and the ship was towed back to its mooring.

It was pointed out that the balloon might be towed across a battleship and after cruising about for observation might again be attached to the ship.

The new ship slightly larger than a navy blimp, 95 feet in length, is driven by a single motor. It was built at Akron and eventually will be assigned to some navy aviation field, it was said.

KEMAL CLEARING ALL CHRISTIANS OFF TURK SOIL
Constantinople, October 15.—The principle of "Turkey for the Turks" will be strictly enforced by Mustafa Kemal, according to advice received by the Near East relief representative here.

All Christians except males of military age have been ordered out of Adalia, Makri and the entire region of southern Anatolia within seven days. Probably 50,000 Christians are affected. Refugees arriving at Adalia have appealed to Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, American naval representative in the Near East, for transportation to Greece.

Pistol Fight Before Church Proves Fatal To Mississippi Man
Oklahoma, Miss., October 15.—Thomas Hadley, a farmer living near here, was killed, Miss Elbur Crichton, teacher in the high school, was struck by a stray bullet and feebly wounded, and John Hadley and Lee Sumner are under arrest as the result of a pistol fight between the three men in front of a church here last night. Officers say the shooting was the result of a feud which started when John Hadley's father gave information which resulted in the seizure of several moonshine stills in this county.

MONROE FARMERS DIVERSIFYING FARM PRODUCTS
Juliette, Ga., October 14.—The production of wheat in Monroe county next season is expected to be the largest on record. An unprecedented acreage is being planted in this crop, and a majority of the farmers expect to have a large surplus for sale after supplying their own needs. Heretofore farmers of this section have paid little attention to raising wheat because of a lack of milling facilities. During the past several months, however, a large number of corn mills in the county have installed machinery for grinding wheat and other mills expect to follow suit before next season. Farmers have also been assured of a cash market for wheat in this county, and many sections farmers will organize for co-operative selling in big quantities. A large acreage than ever is also being planted in oats, rye, barley and winter grazing crops for poultry, hogs and cattle. During the past several weeks there has been a great revival of the sawmill industry in this section. Many mills are now operating near here in Monroe and Jones counties and several million feet of lumber, both dressed and undressed, have been shipped from Juliette since the new and improved sawmill of the Jones family, several miles below here.

Other sawmills will be established here soon and for several months the sawmill industry in this county is expected. As a result, much money is in circulation and there has been a revival of business along many lines.

$75,000 8% Sinking Fund Preferred Stock
$275,000 Sinking Fund Common Stock

Property
Property fronts 230 feet on Cain street, beginning 75 feet west of Peach tree street and running to within 76 feet of Spring Street, located on what is known as the Governor's Mansion site, comprising an area of approximately 230x145 feet. The Company holds a fifty-year lease on this property at a very advantageous rental.

A building consisting of basement, main floor, mezzanine and auditorium containing about 102,000 square feet is being erected on this property at an estimated cost of $475,000. In view of the demand for space that has followed the introduction of central city markets in other cities and its attendant satisfactory profit, superstructure of this building provides for an additional six additional floors without interrupting the business of lessors occupying the initial unit.

Business
The Market Building will be a thoroughly high-grade department store for foods and household necessities. Shoppers will be able to procure groceries, meats, poultry, fish, dairy products, vegetables, fruits, coffee, teas, spices, etc. In addition to the standard food lines, there will be a restaurant, bank, shoe store, laundry agency, dry cleaner's agency, beauty parlors, barber shop, ladies' furnishings and household supplies and necessities of all kinds.

There will also be a free nursery, and a large and well appointed rest room and comfort station.

Equipment
The building will contain about 50 stores on the main and mezzanine floors. All stores (and booths) will be fully equipped with the most modern specially constructed high-grade fixtures. A complete and modern central refrigeration plant will furnish refrigeration for all stores handling perishable products.

Income
The spaces in this Market are leased under ten-year leases to some of the most successful and well rated concerns in Atlanta. No space is leased until a most careful investigation of the lessee has been made as to his financial responsibility.

Over $101,000 of the total $275,000 Common and $75,000 Preferred Stock having been sold, we offer the unsold Preferred and Common Stocks subject to prior sale and change in price as follows:
8 Per Cent Preferred (par value $100) at $100 per share

Monroe County May Float Bonds For Good Roads

Juliette, Ga., October 14.—An ambitious program of road development is now being considered by the commissioners of roads and revenue of Monroe county. If the program is carried out this county will boast of as fine a system of highways as is to be found anywhere. The need of permanent improvement of several main highways is keenly felt and the commissioners have been assured of financial aid from the state highway department and other sources in the work.

Work will begin soon on permanent improvement of the national highway between Forsyth and the Lamar county line. It is also planned to build a permanent highway between Juliette and Culloden and permanently improve the Juliette-Forsyth road, the highway between here and the Bibb county line, about two miles this side of Holton. If funds are lacking to complete these projects, it has been suggested that a bond issue be floated. It is believed such an issue would be ratified. Four steel and concrete bridges conforming to government specifications are now being erected over creeks. These will be completed in a few weeks. A bridge has been built over Rum creek between Dames Ferry and Pope's ferry and other bridges will be built where needed.

WEEK'S FAILURES SHOW SLIGHT INCREASE
Despite the fact of a five-day business week in the United States owing to an observance of the holiday, failures reported to R. G. Dun & Co. for the week ending October 12, 1922, show a slight increase over the previous week, being one less than were reported last week. The total for the week ending October 12, 1922, was 573.

Default with liabilities of more than $5,000 in each case numbered 208 this week, being one less than were reported last week; they are also a slightly smaller proportion of the total, amounting to 53.3 per cent this week, as against 54.5 per cent last week. A year ago similar insolvencies numbered 252, being 61.8 per cent of the total.

Failures reported in the Dominion of Canada this week show a substantial increase, the total being 60, as compared with 57 a week ago; in the corresponding week of last year, the total was 42. Defaults involving over $5,000 in each instance numbered 34 this week, an increase from the 26 reported last week.

Other sawmills will be established here soon and for several months the sawmill industry in this county is expected. As a result, much money is in circulation and there has been a revival of business along many lines.

Strange Maladies Erupt on Skins In Smyrna Ruins

American Relief Workers Among Victims of Mysterious Disease.

Athens, October 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Turkey's suggestion that the Near East peace conference be held in Smyrna should be rejected once for all by the powers if they have any consideration for the health of their delegates in the opinion of American relief workers, some of whom have arrived in Athens from Smyrna with strange skin maladies requiring medical treatment. They report sanitary conditions in Smyrna as unspeakable with the bodies of horses and other animals and of some of the Smyrna residents who were killed in the disaster still in the streets.

Harry Elsworth Boyde, a Pittsburg (Pa.) auditor of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. in Turkey, arrived here yesterday after escorting 700 refugees to Mitylene aboard the U. S. Shipping board steamer Casey. He is a member of the committee organized by Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol and has been working in close co-operation with K. Jennings, of the Y. M. C. A., in his relief efforts.

Mr. Boyde said to the Associated Press correspondent today: "The 700 refugees just taken from Mitylene were the last to be taken out of Smyrna. Their condition was terrifying. These people were actually being devoured by flies. It is so throughout Smyrna, for the flies, thriving on the decomposed matter lying about, have multiplied by millions. No girls between the ages of 15 and 25 were found in our band of refugees; they had been taken by the Turks. Captain Glover, of the Casey, by strategy saved the lives of 70 young Greeks, former army officers. He was swimming through the streets of Smyrna when he found the Greeks under arrest and began to berate them for having abandoned his ship. Threatening to beat them unless they returned instantly. The Turks were much amused, and, foreseeing dire punishment for the Greeks at the hands of the American, allowed them to reach the steamer. Captain Glover hid them in the hold until the vessel reached Mitylene.

Mr. Boyde told how an aged woman, a refugee, half mad with hunger, seized his wrist as he was waiting on the quay, imploring him to rescue her. In her frenzy she accidentally lacerated his arm and, he believed, infected him. A violent eruption was caused, which spread to his forehead.

This skin eruption is appearing in Athens among foreigners who come in contact with refugees. It also is developing among those who meet refugee workers. The indications are that immediate, effective organization is necessary if serious pestilence is to be avoided in Greece.

Dahlonega Man Expected to Die From Fight Wounds

Dahlonega, October 15.—Gordon Bridges, of Dahlonega, is in the Downie hospital at Gainesville where he is expected to die from wounds inflicted by a shot-gun in the hands of Marlow Fortner, here last night. The full effect of the shot struck Bridges in the abdomen.

Following the shooting Fortner did not try to escape but surrendered to the Lumpkin county sheriff. He is now held in jail here.

No cause for the shooting is known. The men were very close friends.

Gompers Recalls Reception Given Him in Atlanta

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, passed through Atlanta Sunday night on his way to New Orleans, where he will address the American Legion convention in progress there.

He was met at the Terminal station by Jerome Jones, Mr. Gompers' personal southern representative, and E. A. Quinn, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

During his few minutes stay he extended a greeting to The Constitution through Mr. Jones. The labor chief recalled vividly the kindly reception he received in Atlanta a little more than a year ago at a banquet at the Anley hotel when Federal Judge Samuel S. Sibley paid him a glowing tribute. Mr. Jones said:

"It has always given me a great deal of pleasure to come south and particularly to Atlanta," Mr. Gompers said.

Floyd Officers Search for Man Accused of Murder

Rome, Ga., October 15.—(Special.) The sheriff's office and police of Rome are on the lookout for Tom Evans, 35 years old, said to be well known in criminal circles, who is wanted at Cedartown for the murder of Andrew Eunice last night. Eunice was a mill worker near Esom Hill just across the Polk county line in Alabama. He was 45 years of age. It is said that the two men got into a row over liquor and the shooting followed. Evans made good his escape. Evans lived at Cedartown. An inquest will be held over the body before it is removed to his home for burial.

THREE NEGROES DEAD AT GRADE CROSSING

Montgomery, Ala., October 15.—Three negroes were killed today when Louisville and Nashville passenger train No. 1, southbound, struck an automobile in which they were riding at a crossing a mile north of Verbena, according to reports received at the office of the railroad here.

Bob Clark, his wife, and a minister whose name was not learned, were the victims, the reports said. The Clark negroes lived near Verbena and the preacher lived at Clanton. The bodies were placed aboard the train and removed to Verbena following the accident.

Are You Puzzled About Profits?

A well-known business man was frankly puzzled.

"I am sure I have made money on every sale," he said, "but I cannot find it. I am equally sure it is not being stolen."

We investigated and found the trouble in an extravagant overhead burden. He reduced the overhead and found his profits. We may help you find yours.
